SANTA FE DEAD

HENRY STRONG EXPIRES
AFTER LONG ILLNESS

First Head of Road, Whose Constructi Gained Him
Internat. Fame

DENVER, Oct. 21.—Henry Strong, pioneer western railroad builder and for many years president of the Santa Fe, died today at his home, 1200 Pennsylvania avenue, after an illness of more than a year. Nephritis is given as the cause of death.

In the late 30s Mr. Strong gained international fame by taking active charge of the construction of the Santa Fe railroad between Toledo, Kan., and the capital of what was then New Mexico, through a country overrun with Indians and outlaws.

The construction of the line was carried under military guard, the work of the surveyors being done with an escort of cavalry, with Mr. Strong at the head of a portion of the time.

Selected president of the Santa Fe soon afterward, as a reward for his work, Mr. Strong remained at the head of that road until 1874, when he resigned to give his entire attention to personal business affairs, in Lake Geneva, Santa Barbara, Cal., and Denver.

Born in Scotland.

Harvey Strong was born in Glasgow, Scotland, May 2, 1829, but came to this country with his parents when still a child. He was educated in the public schools of Rochester, N. Y., later being graduated from the University of Rochester and the Albany law school.

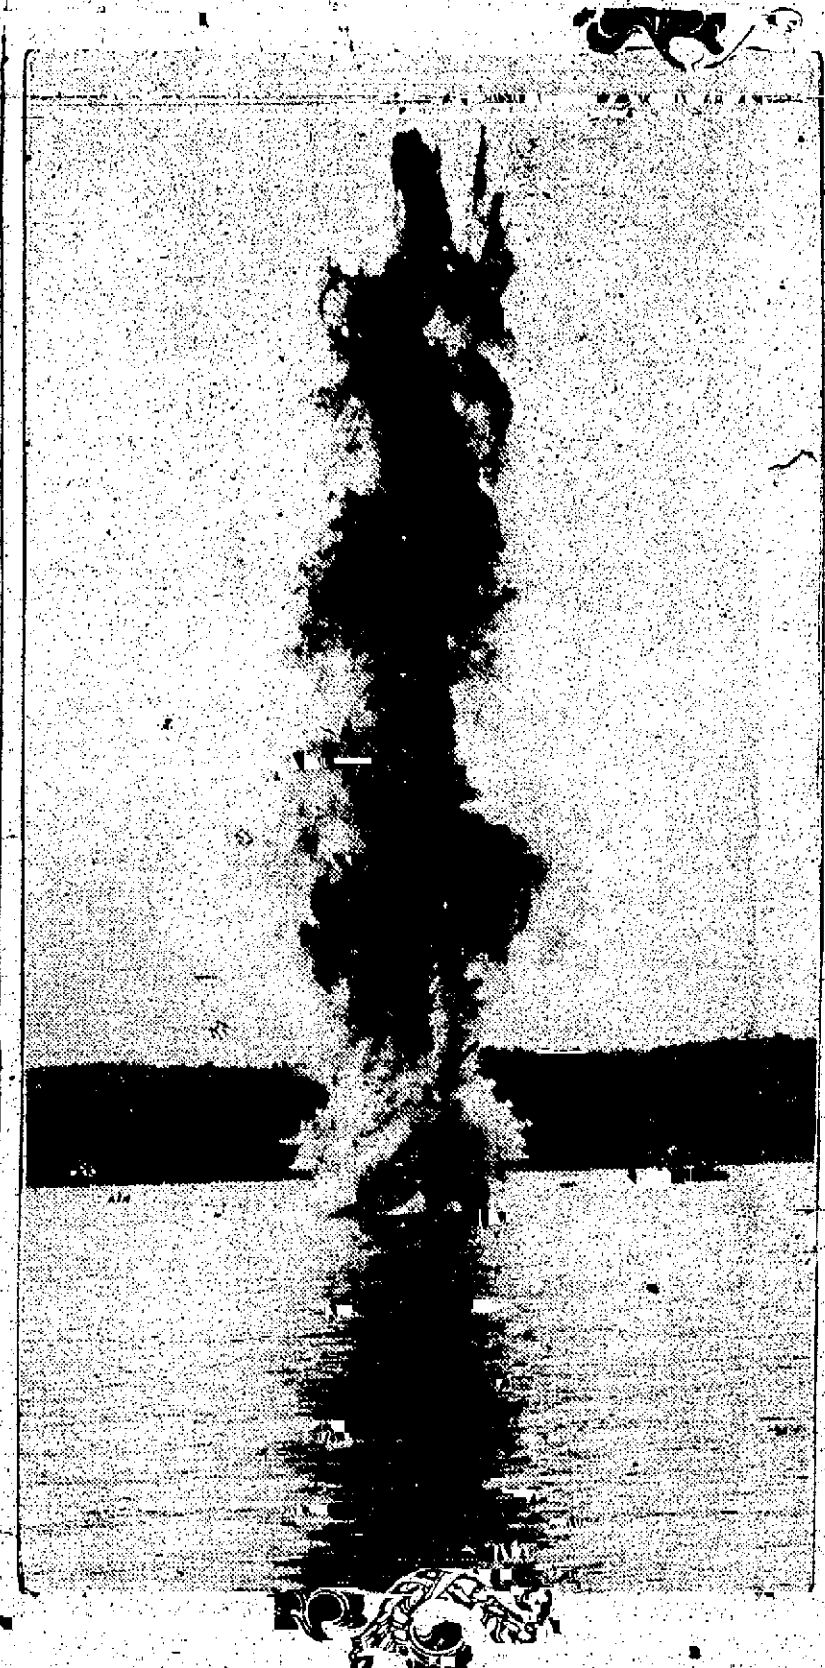

In the early 30s Mr. Strong went to Keokuk, Ia., where he entered the practice of law, becoming junior counsel for several railroads. He soon saw the possibilities for a young and energetic man in the construction of railroads, and studied that branch of the work.

Aside from his work at the head of the construction department for the Santa Fe, Mr. Strong also materially aided in the construction of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad across the state of Iowa, when that road was beset with difficulties.

Mr. Strong had been an invalid for more than a year, being confined to his home with chronic neuritis. He died early this evening, surrounded by members of his family.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Charles Dennison of Denver, Mrs. John Jansson and Mrs. Theodore Sheldon of Chicago, and one son, Gordon Strong, of Chicago.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Graphic photograph taken at the moment of the explosion of one of the submarine mines in New York harbor, Oct. 21, 1911. The explosion was the result of an experiment as to the safeguarding of New York harbor from invasion of foreign war craft. Three rafts were used to mark the imaginary vessel, and when a tug hauling them at the end of 1,500 feet of hawser started slowly to pull the rafts over the hidden mine, the soldiers in the forts on shore set the electric flash, exploding the mines directly under the floating objects. A column of water nearly 75 feet in height was thrown into the air and made a spectacular sight.

CURRENCY REFORM UP FOR DISCUSSION

J. J. Hill Declares Unquali-
fiedly for Plan If Somewhat Modified

ST. PAUL, Oct. 21.—Congressman E. B. Vreeland, head of the National Monetary commission, Congressman Primary ex-Congressman Bonyng and Secretary Wickerham arrived here today from Chicago to meet business men and bankers to talk over currency reform.

J. J. Hill appeared unexpectedly before the committee late this afternoon to give his opinion on a financial plan for the country.

Mr. Hill discussed the entire financial situation. He suggested that, for the purpose of borrowing money, first-class bonds and industrial securities should be recognized as proper security for loans by banks. Members of the committee suggested that "good notes" as now legalized should be included in the plan. Mr. Hill cited an instance during a recent stringency, when he had wanted to borrow money. When the banks were refusing loans on notes which would at other times have been considered a first-class security, he went to New York with a lot of railroad bonds and borrowed what money he wanted.

Confidence Is Wanted.

"We have money enough in the country now," he said. "What we want is more confidence. When the people have confidence, the business of the country goes ahead."

Mr. Hill advocates a modification in the plan for the modification of the Central Reserve association, which is under consideration, with an authorized capital stock increase from $300,000,000 to $500,000,000. Each bank holding stock in the association should have only one vote, and no vote for stock ownership; that there should be no government directors on the national board; that the National Reserve association should be permitted to make loans to member banks on security, consisting of first-class bonds of railroads and first-class industrial corporation bonds.

He also advocated that the reserve association should pay the government interest on government deposits, and that notes of the association should not be taxed except after they had been in circulation for 60 or 90 days.

Congressman Bonyng asked Mr. Hill:

"With such modifications and changes in the plan that the committee has under consideration, as you have suggested, you would then favor the organization of a central reserve association?"

"Unqualifiedly," Mr. Hill replied. "It is a necessity, and the country cannot postpone it safely for any length of time."

C. W. SELLS AGAIN HEAD OF COG ROAD

All Officers and Directors Re-elected—No Accidents in 20 Years' Operation

All officers and directors of the Manitowish and Pike's Peak railroad, better known as the Cog road, were re-elected at the annual meeting in Manitowish yesterday. C. W. Sells of Colorado Springs, is president and manager. The other officers are: Z. G. Simmons, of Kenosha, Wis., vice president and treasurer; A. H. Lauce of Kenosha, Wis., secretary; and J. R. Glasser of Denver, assistant secretary.

The officers made up the board of directors, together with H. S. Cable of Rock Island, Ill., who was here to attend the meeting.

The Cog road has been in existence 20 years, and during the entire time not a single accident of a serious nature has occurred.

OVER DESERT TO YUMA, ARIZ.

This Is Program Aviator Fowler, at Pomona, Cal., Has Laid Out
for Today

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Oct. 21.—Aviator Robert G. Fowler made 46 miles today on his second day's trip of his transcontinental flight. Starting at Pasadena at 10:20 a. m. he announced he hoped to reach Yuma, Ariz., more than 100 miles away, by midnight.

But, as it turned out, Fowler was lucky. Going over Pomona, 30 miles from here at an altitude of 2,500 feet, Fowler gradually raised his planes until he had reached a height of about 4,000 feet. Then suddenly his engine stopped and he dropped 400 feet before he was able to get his machinery in motion again. This accomplished he steered directly for the ground, and made a good landing here at 11:25 a. m. Fowler had been making nearly a mile a minute.

The aviator said he would start again at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning and head straight across the desert for Yuma.

THESE EGGS $2.40 DOZEN

TUCSON, Ariz., Oct. 21.—Eggs are selling at 20 cents each, in Guaymas and other eggs are correspondingly high according to delayed mail advices which reached Tucson today.

The high price of eggs is caused by the drowning of many chickens in the recent floods and because of damage to transportation facilities.

TELL WOMEN TO FORGET DIGNITY

SUFFRAGIST SPEAKERS
TABOO BASHFULNESS

National Association Learns
"How to Interest the Uninterested"

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 21.—The uninterested women interested in suffrage by indirect means was the consensus of opinion expressed today at the forty-third annual convention of the National American Woman Suffrage association in session here.

"Interest the different women in some reform, first of all," Miss Kate M. Gordon of New Orleans advised.

"A woman listens first with her heart, then with her head," Miss Quincy Day of Indianapolis said.

"It is a fool question," Miss Winsor of Philadelphia declared, "to ask the woman to vote." When I want her to vote, I ask her, 'Don't you wish we could decide whether we could have that $500,000 playground rather than the men?'"

Miss Winsor electrified the convention probably more than any of the speakers who gave their ideas on "How to Interest the Uninterested." She counseled militant methods and contended that almost any method and position, if followed with sufficient ability, would be successful.

"Don't Bore People."

"Whatever you do," she advised earnestly, "don't be tiresome. Bore is vulgar," when the delegates laughed indignantly, she reiterated the advice. "Yes, indeed," she said, "this is a vulgar age. Be bold, be yellow, be anything but picturesque. Better go to extremes than to bore people."

Mrs. Grace (Gallatin) Scott, wife of Ernest Thompson, secretary of Connecticut, was one of the few positive though non-moderate, in suggesting ways and means, while Mrs. Susan W. Fitzgerald of Boston put herself into the militant class when she cautioned the delegates that they must not be "conscious of personal dignity." If they would succeed, dropping suffrage literature from their baggage, she said, and the pamphlets undoubtedly attracted more attention than if they had come less directly from above.

SURGICAL OPERATION RESTORES IDENTITY

SEATTLE, Oct. 21.—S. Chandler Rogers, who was attacked by three ruffians at the corner of Eighth avenue and Sixteenth street, New York, on the night of May 1, 1910, and thrown into the Hudson river, after his skull had been fractured, wandered about the world for 14 years under the name of George Kelly, and was restored to himself in this city, yesterday, as the result of a surgical operation that removed pressure upon his skull.

Under the name of George Kelly, he served 11 years in the United States navy, and was discharged at Bremer, July 1, 1910. Then he went to work in a sawmill at Port Blakeley and was married there two months ago.

On October 10, he disappeared from his home and was found three days later in the forest, crawling on his hands and knees, snapping like a dog. He was brought to a hospital in Seattle on October 13, unable to speak or see, and apparently paralyzed. Last Sunday an operation was performed to remove a portion of the skull that pressed upon the brain. Yesterday, Kelly asked for pen and paper, and wrote a concise and intelligent letter to his half-sister, Miss Florence Doules, 418 West Thirty-second street, New York, closing his letter by stating he was in a hospital. He signed the name S. Chandler Rogers, then asked for a newspaper and was dumbfounded when a paper, dated Seattle, October 20, was handed him. He asked where he was, and when told where, he broke down and wept. On regaining his composure, he told this story:

Fourteen Years a Blank.

"I don't know where I have been, or what I have been doing for 14 years. I was born in New York city in 1880. I lived with my grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Doules, 418 West Thirty-second street, New York. I was first a newsboy in New York and then a messenger with a big trust company. I used to box in a theater to earn a little side money."

"On May 1, 1907, I took a vacation. With a friend, I went to a theater, accompanied by two girls. I took my girl home and then started to walk to my own abode. At the corner of Sixteenth street and Eighth avenue, I met three men, who asked for a newspaper, and I was dumbfounded when a paper, dated Seattle, October 20, was handed him. He asked where he was, and when told where, he broke down and wept. On regaining his composure, he told this story:

KANSAS CITY, KAN., HAS JAIL DELIVERY

Six Prisoners Overcome Wyandotte County Jailer and
Escape

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 21.—Six prisoners led by William Lee Trace, convicted of holding a Missouri Pacific passenger train between Leavenworth and Kansas City, tonight, overpowered Wyan-dotte county jail in Kansas City, Kan., where they were confined.

The prisoners who escaped besides Lee Trace were John Harrington and Robert DeWitt, charged with burglary; John Ryan and John Lough, charged with robbing the Rosebud, Kan., post office recently, and George Thomas, charged with robbery.

The jail delivery was carefully planned. Jailer Lee, who was in the office, was called aside to attend "Kid" Wilson, who was reported ill. As the jailer entered he was struck from behind and his keys taken from him. The escaping prisoners then walked out of the jail to liberty.

EACH SIDE CLAIMS STRIKE ADVANTAGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—Three weeks have passed since the Federated Shoppers employed by the Harriman lines walked out, and the situation tonight is practically the same as at the time the strike was ordered.

There has been virtually no violence. The shops in this city, Portland, Sacramento and Los Angeles have been carefully picketed, but clashes between union men and strike breakers have been few.

Each side claims victory. The strikers declare that the rolling stock of the Harriman lines is in bad shape, but the railroad officials assert that the company has sufficient nonunion mechanics to make all necessary repairs. The strikers maintain that the railroad is not running on a schedule time, but the railroad officials insist that no serious delays have resulted from the strike.

At Portland, it is reported that 68 per cent of the normal force in the shops has been replaced, and by increasing the working hours, all necessary repair work can be handled.

At the Sacramento shops, 1,800 men out of a force of 2,400 men are at work. The strikers report gains in their ranks.

At Los Angeles, the strikers are confident of winning.

The Southern Pacific company, according to its officials, has expressed little inconvenience as a result of the strike.

When asked regarding conditions, they declared: "The strike is over."

The strikers and company officials alike are agreed that this has been the most orderly strike in years. Were it not for the picketing, it would be difficult to discover that a strike was in progress.

ITALIAN TROOPS TRAPPED

Several Are Killed—Caught
Between Two Fires.

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—A special dispatch from Tripoli reports a sanguinary fight on Thursday night near the town. The Turks surprised the Italians, who were caught between two fires. The ships were unable to give assistance. Fifteen Italian soldiers were found dead in the trenches. Many dead and wounded were transported to the warships. The authorities, however, assert that only one man is missing.

FINDING OF A SKELETON CLEARS UP OLD MYSTERY

TELLURIDE, Colo., Oct. 21.—The finding of a skeleton partly clothed in the tattered remnants of a coat, near High bridge, eight miles from here, has solved the mystery of the sudden disappearance, two and one-half years ago, of Charles O. Kelley, a prominent mining man of this district.

The skeleton was identified as that of Kelley by a bank book found in the pocket of the coat.

It is supposed that Kelley fell from the bridge into the canon below and either was instantly or so seriously injured that he was unable to aid himself or to attract the attention of passersby.

WEATHER DELAYS RODGERS

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 21.—C. P. Rodgers, the aviator, had his machine ready to resume his flight to the Pacific today, but a Texas "norther" prevented his starting.

Indications tonight are that another bad day is ahead and the start before Monday is not probable.

FIRE RAZES HUNDREDS OF HOMES IN CONSTANTINOPLE

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 21.—A great fire has been raging in Stamboul since 6 o'clock last night. Simultaneous fires broke out in the Bayezide quarter not from the chance and war of the fire, but from the fact that the fire was started by a Turkish soldier who was drunk and had been drinking from a bottle of brandy.

STATE MINING DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION

Gov. Shafroth and Others Organize to Secure Ore
Reducing Station

WILL ASK FOR $1,000,000

Arrange Campaign to Get Big Appropriation From the Next Congress

DENVER, Oct. 21.—Governor John F. Shafroth, State Treasurer, Rhody Kenahan, other state officers and several prominent mining men of Colorado, today organized The Colorado Mining Development association, with the avowed purpose to secure from the next congress an appropriation of $1,000,000 for the purpose of constructing an ore-reducing station for Colorado.

A resolution adopted by the association, and signed by the organizers, declares that as the United States annually is spending millions of dollars upon agricultural, experimental stations throughout the country, it is only just and right that the federal government should aid mining states to exploit their mineral resources in a similar manner. It is the plan of the organization to send this resolution broadcast among the national assemblymen and to supplement it with personal appeals for consideration of the subject matter of the resolution.

The association desires to have a movable experimental station built at Silverton, with the idea in view of having it removed to some other portion of the state when it has served its purpose in the San Juan district.

The organizers of the association are Governor Shafroth, Treasurer Kenahan, Dr. Victor C. Alderson of the State School of Mines and Capt. James I. Smith.

Mr. Kenahan was elected president and Captain Smith secretary of the association.

GOVERNOR TAKES HAND IN KANSAS MURDER MYSTERY

ELLSWORTH, Kan., Oct. 21.—The solution of the Showman mystery tonight appears to rest on the finger prints found in the house of death here by a detective yesterday. All other clues have been run to earth and the affair remains as much of a mystery as it was last Monday morning, when a neighbor woman walked into the house and discovered the slain family of five persons.

So interested is Governor Stubbs in the finger prints, that today he notified local officers he would send a man here to examine the impressions. The governor's letter did not state the name of the expert, but he is supposed to be from Lansing prison, where Charles Marzyk, the suspect in the Showman case, was confined. John Smithfield, the suspect picked up at Kanopolis yesterday remains in jail.

Eminent Lecturer May Give Talk to Winter Night Club

The executive committee of the Winter Night club has appointed the following members to serve on a committee of nominations: Dr. William F. Stinson, W. C. Sturgis, Henry C. Hall, Dr. E. H. Steeper and Dr. Edward S. Parsons. They will select the officers of the club for the coming year and will make their report early in November.

The executive committee is arranging, if at all possible, to secure Dr. John Cox as speaker for the November meeting. Dr. Cox is at present visiting China and Japan on his return to England from Australia, where he has been lecturing in the interest of the university extension scheme, having been requested by the educational committee of the London county council to undertake this journey around the world in the cause of science. Dr. Cox has been remarkably well received everywhere, and his lectures have had a constantly growing attendance. The Western Australian, in an editorial, says: "The large hall of the building was again crowded by a keenly-alert audience. The gratifying attentiveness which made the previous series of lectures so profitable, was again in evidence. Prof. Cox has already had opportunities on the local platform of proving his versatility and charm as a lecturer. He brings to his subject a clear and graceful diction and a happy resource in the way of homely and apposite illustration."

Dr. Cox is a fellow of Cambridge university and was for some years director of the department of experimental physics of McGill university at Montreal. He is a recognized authority in his line of work.

Mr. Taft Receives Pipe

WOOD, S. D., Oct. 21.—President further qualified as a miner

mine. Two years ago, Mr. Taft took down to the 1,200-foot

SANTA FE DEAD

HENRY STRONG EXPIRES
AFTER LONG ILLNESS

First Head of Road, Whose
Construct Gained Him
Internat'l Fame

DENVER, Oct. 21.—Henry
Strong, pioneer western railroad
man, died today at his home, 1200 Pennsylvania avenue, after an illness of more than a year.
Neuritis is given as the cause of death.

In the late '80s, Mr. Strong gained international fame by taking charge of the construction of the Santa Fe railroad between Topeka, Kan., and the capital of what now is New Mexico, through a country overrun with Indians and outlaws.

The construction of the line was carried under military guard,
the work of the surveyors being done with an escort of cavalry, with Mr. Strong at the head of the line at the time.

Afterward, as a reward for his work, Mr. Strong remained at the head of that road until 1877, when he resigned, to give his entire attention to personal business affairs, in Lake George, N. Y., Santa Barbara, Cal., and Denver.

Born in Scotland.
Harvey Strong was born in Glasgow, Scotland, May 2, 1829, but came to this country with his parents when still a child. He was educated in the public schools of Rochester, N. Y., later graduating from the University of Rochester and the Albany law school.

In the early '50s, Mr. Strong went to Keokuk, Ia., where he entered the practice of law, becoming junior counsel for several railroads. He soon saw the possibilities for a young and energetic man in the construction of railroads, and studied that branch of the work.

Aside from his work at the head of the construction department for the Santa Fe, Mr. Strong also materially aided in the construction of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad across the state of Iowa, when that road was beset with difficulties.

Mr. Strong had been an invalid for more than a year, being confined to his home with chronic neuritis. He died early this evening, surrounded by members of his family.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Charles Dennison of Denver, Mrs. John Jamieson of Chicago, and one son, Gordon Strong, of Chicago.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

NAVAL HEROES HONORED

For American Men Who Showed Bravery

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Eight American naval heroes were honored today by the navy department, selecting their names as those to be borne by the new torpedo boats, numbers 41 to 50, inclusive.

The officers thus honored were:
Stephen Cassin, John Downes,
Silas Duncan, Andrew Boyd Cummings, George Beall, John Cushing, Aylwin Alexander Parker Foxhall
and Andrew E. K. Benham.

WILSON AGAINST FEDERAL AID FOR PUBLIC HIGHWAYS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 21.—Secretary James P. Wilson of the department of agriculture, opposed federal aid for building highways, because, if once started,
it might lead to no other known way.

The secretary in a letter to Sidney Suggs, Oklahoma state commissioner of highways, expressed the belief that the federal aid feature is not a movement of the people, but is instigated by automobile manufacturers.

Graphic photograph taken at the moment of the explosion of one of the submarine mines in New York harbor exploded by United States army officials as an experiment as to the effectiveness of New York harbor from invasion of foreign war craft. Three rafts were used to mark the imaginary vessel, and when a tug hauling them at the end of 1,500 feet of hawser started slowly to pull the rafts over the hidden mines, the soldiers in the forts on shore set the electric flash, exploding the mines directly under the floating objects. A column of water nearly 50 feet in height was thrown into the air and made a spectacular sight.

CURRENCY REFORM UP FOR DISCUSSION

J. J. Hill Declares Unquali-
fiedly for Plan If Some-
what Modified

ST. PAUL, Oct. 21.—Congressman
J. J. Hill, head of the National Monetary commission, Congressman Prince, ex-Congressman Bonyne and Secretary Wickham arrived here today from Chicago to meet business men and bankers to talk over currency reform.

J. J. Hill appeared unexpectedly before the committee late this afternoon to give his opinion on a financial plan for the country.

Mr. Hill discussed the entire financial situation. He suggested that,
for the purpose of borrowing money,
first-class bonds and industrial securities
should be recognized as proper security for loans by banks. Members of the committee suggested that good notes as now legalized should be included in the plan. Mr. Hill cited an instance during a recent stringency
when he had wanted to borrow money.
When the banks were refusing loans
on notes which would at other times
have been considered a first-class security, he went to New York with a lot of railroad bonds and borrowed what money he wanted.

Confidence Is Wanted.
"We have money enough in the country now," he said. "What we want is more confidence. When the people have confidence, the business of the country goes ahead."

Mr. Hill advocates a modification in the plan for the modification of the Central Reserve association, which is under consideration, with an authorized capital stock increase from $300, 000,000 to $500,000,000. Each bank holding stock in the association should have only one vote, and no vote for stock ownership; that there should be no government directors on the national board; that the National Reserve association should be permitted to make loans to member banks on security, consisting of first-class bonds of railroads and first-class industrial corporation bonds.

He also advocated that the reserve association should pay the government interest on government deposits,
and that notes of the association
should not be taxed except after they had been in circulation for 60 or 90 days.

Congressman Bonyne asked Mr.
Hill:
"With such modifications and changes in the plan that the committee has under consideration, as you have suggested, would you then favor
the organization of a central reserve
association?"

"Unqualifiedly," Mr. Hill replied. "It is a necessity, and the country cannot postpone it safely for any length of time."

SUFFRAGIST SPEAKERS
TABOO BASHFULNESS

National Association Learns
How to Interest the
"Uninterested"

DOT ISVILLE, Oct. 21.—The uninterested women interested in suffrage
by indirect means was the consensus of opinions expressed today at the forty-third annual convention of the National American Women Suffrage association in session here.

"Interest the different women in some reform, that of all, Miss Kate M.
Gordon of New Orleans advised.
"A woman, listen first with her heart, then with her head," Miss Charlotte Day of Indianapolis said.

"It is a fact question," Miss Winsor
of Philadelphia declared. "To ask 'Do you want to vote?' When I want her to vote,
I ask her, 'Don't you wish we could decide whether you could have that $50,000 playground rather than the pen?'"

Miss Winsor described the convention, probably more than any of the speakers, who gave their ideas on "How to Interest the Uninterested."
She commended military methods and contended that almost any tactics not positive, taboos were justifiable if the end could be gained.

"Don't Bore People."
"Whatever you do," she advised earnestly, "don't be tiresome. Don't be tedious," she reiterated the advice. "Yes, indeed," she said, "this is a vulgar age. Be kind, be loving, be anything but picturesque. Don't go to extremes than to bore people."

Mrs. Grace Halliday, wife of Ernest Thompson, Boston, of Connecticut, was the less positive though moderate, in suggesting ways and means, while Mrs. Susan W. Flower, aid of Boston, put herself into the military class when she cautioned the delegates that they must not be "so conscious of personal dignity" if they would succeed. Dropping suffrage literature from balloons worked well in Massachusetts, she said, and the pamphlets undoubtedly attracted more attention than if they had come less directly from above.

SURGICAL OPERATION RESTORES IDENTITY

SEATTLE, Oct. 21.—S. Chandler
Rogers, who was attacked by three ruffians at the corner of Eighth and Sixteenth street, New York, on the night of May 1, 1907, and thrown into the Hudson river, after his skull had been fractured, wandered about the world for 14 years under the name of George Kelly, and was restored to himself in this city yesterday, as the result of a surgical operation that removed pressure upon his skull.

Under the name of George Kelly, he served 11 years in the United States navy, and was discharged at Bremerton, July 1, 1910. Then he went to work in a sawmill at Port Blakeley
and was married there two months ago.

On October 10, he disappeared from his home and was found three days later in the forest, crawling on his hands and knees, snapping like a dog.
He was brought to a hospital in Seattle, on October 18, unable to speak or see, and apparently paralyzed. Last Sunday an operation was performed to remove a portion of the skull that pressed upon the brain. Yesterday, Kelly asked for pen and paper and wrote a concise and intelligent letter to his half-sister, Miss Florence
Douglas, 418 West Thirty-second street,
New York, closing his letter by stating he was in a hospital. He signed the name S. Chandler Rogers, then asked for a newspaper and was dumbfounded when a paper, dated Seattle, October 20, was handed him. He asked where he was, and when told where he broke down and wept. On regaining his composure, he told this story:

Fourteen Years a Blank.
"I do not know where I have been,
or what I have been doing for 14 years.
I was born in New York city, in 1850.
I lived with my grandmother, Mrs.
Elizabeth Douglas, 418 West Thirty-second street, New York. I was first a messenger in New York and then a messenger with a big trust company.
I used to box in a theater to earn a little side money."

"On May 1, 1907, I took a vacation.
With a friend, I went to a theater, accompanied by two girls. I took my girl home and then started to walk to my own abode. At the corner of Sixteenth street and Eighth avenue, I met three men, who asked for a match. I told them, 'I am not a match-factory.' Then one made a pass at me. I struck at him with my brass knuckles on my right hand. I always wore them at night—it was then near midnight."

"Another man of the three struck me with a blackjack, and I fell to my knees."
"The next I knew I was swimming in the Hudson river, stark naked. I remember catching hold of a pile of lumber, and selling for help. I can remember being dragged from the river, and that is the last I know except that I woke up here in this hospital at Seattle, Tuesday morning."

OVER DESERT TO YUMA, ARIZ.

This Is Program Aviator Fowler, at Pomona, Cal., Has Laid Out
for Today

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Oct. 21.—Aviator
Robert O. Fowler made 60 miles today on his second day's trip of his transcontinental flight. Starting at Pasadena at 10:20 a. m. he announced he hoped to reach Yuma, Ariz., more than 100 miles away, by midnight.

But as it turned out, Fowler was lucky. Going over Pomona, 30 miles from here, at an altitude of 2,500 feet, Fowler gradually raised his planes until he had reached a height of about 4,000 feet. Then suddenly his engine stopped and he dropped 400 feet before he was able to get his machinery in motion again. This accomplished he steered directly for the ground and made a good landing here at 11:28 a.
m. Fowler had been making nearly a mile a minute.

The aviator said he would start again
at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning and head straight across the desert for Yuma.

KANSAS CITY, KAN., HAS JAIL DELIVERY

Six Prisoners Overcome Wyan-
dotte County Jailer and
Escape

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 21.—Six prisoners, led by William L. Trace, convicted of robbing a Missouri Pacific passenger train between Leavenworth
and Kansas City, tonight overpowered Jailer Spiller Lee and escaped from the Wyandotte county jail in Kansas city, Kan., where they were confined.

The prisoners who escaped besides Lee Trace were John Harrington and Robert Beattie, charged with burglary;
John Ryan and John Lynch, charged with robbing the Rosedale, Kan., postoffice recently, and George Thomas, charged with burglary.

The jail delivery was carefully planned. Jailer Lee, who was in the office, was called inside to attend
"Kid Wilson," who was reported ill.
As the jailer opened his door he was struck from behind and his keys taken from him. The escaping prisoners then walked out of the jail to liberty.

EACH SIDE CLAIMS STRIKE ADVANTAGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—Three weeks have passed since the Federated Shoppers employed by the Harriman lines walked out, and the situation tonight is practically the same as at the time the strike was ordered.

There has been virtually no violence.
The shops in this city, Portland, Sacramento and Los Angeles have been carefully picketed, but clashes between union men and strike breakers have been few.

Each side claims victory. The strikers declare that the sailing stock of the Harriman lines is in bad shape,
but the railroad officials assert that the company has sufficient nonunion mechanics to make all necessary repairs. The strikers maintain that the railroad is not running on schedule
time, but the railroad officials insist that no serious delays have resulted from the strike.

At Portland, it is reported that 65 per cent of the normal force in the shops has been replaced, and by increasing the working hours, all necessary repair work can be handled.

At the Sacramento shops, 1,500 men out of a force of 2,400 men are at work. The strikers report gains in their ranks.

At Los Angeles, the strikers are confident of winning.
The Southern Pacific company, according to its officials, has expressed little inconvenience as a result of the strike.

When asked regarding conditions,
they declare: "The strike is over."
The strikers and company officials alike are agreed that this has been the most orderly strike in years. Were it not for the picketing, it would be difficult to discover that a strike was in progress.

ITALIAN TROOPS TRAPPED

Surprised by Turkish Detachment and Several Are Killed—Caught
Between Two Fires

BERLIN, Oct. 21.—A special dispatch
from Tripoli reports a sanguinary fight on Thursday night near the town. The Turks surprised the Italians, who were caught between two fires. The warships were unable to give assistance.
Fifteen Italian soldiers were found dead in the trenches. Many dead and wounded were transported to the warships. The authorities, however, assert that only one man is missing.

FINDING OF A SKELETON CLEARS UP OLD MYSTERY

TELLURIDE, Colo., Oct. 21.—The finding of a skeleton partly clothed in the tattered remnants of a coat near High bridge, eight miles from here, has solved the mystery of the sudden disappearance, two and one-half years ago, of Charles O. Kelley, a prominent mining man of this district.

The skeleton was identified as that of Kelley by a bank book found in the pocket of the coat.
It is supposed that Kelley fell from the bridge into the canon below and other was instantly or so seriously injured that he was unable to aid himself or to attract the attention of passersby.

WEATHER DELAYS RODGERS

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 21.—C. P.
Rodgers, the aviator, had his machine ready to resume his flight to the Pacific today, but a Texas "norther" prevented his starting.

Indications tonight are that another bad day is ahead and the start before Monday is not probable.

FIRE RAZES HUNDREDS OF HOMES IN CONSTANTINOPLE
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 21.—A great fire had been raging in Stamboul since 6 o'clock last night. Simultaneously fires broke out in the Bayrased quarter not from the finance and war ministries and at Kum Kapu on the sea front of Marmara. Several hundred houses have already been destroyed.

STATE MINING DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION

Gov. Shafroth and Others Organize to Secure Ore
Reducing Station

DENVER, Oct. 21.—Governor John F.
Shafroth, State Treasurer Rhody Kane-han, other state officers and several prominent mining men of Colorado, today organized The Colorado Mining Development Association, with the avowed purpose to secure from the next congress an appropriation of $1,000,000 for the purpose of constructing an ore-reducing station for Colorado.

A resolution adopted by the association, and signed by the organizers, declares that as the United States annually is spending millions of dollars
upon agricultural experimental stations throughout the country, it is only just and right that the federal government should aid mining states to exploit their mineral resources in a similar manner. It is the plan of the organization to send this resolution broadcast among the national assemblies and to supplement it with personal appeals for consideration of the subject matter of the resolution.

The association desires to have a movable experimental station built at Silverton, with the idea in view of having it removed to some other portion of the state when it has served its purpose in the San Juan district.

The organizers of the association are:
Governor Shafroth, Treasurer Kanehan,
Dr. Victor C. Alderson, of the state School of Mines and Capt. James T.
Smith.

Mr. Kanehan was elected president and Captain Smith secretary of the association.

GOVERNOR TAKES HAND IN KANSAS MURDER MYSTERY

ELLSWORTH, Kan., Oct. 21.—The solution of the Showman mystery tonight appears to rest on the finger prints found in the house of death here by a detective yesterday. All other clues have been run to earth and the affair remains as much of a mystery as it was last Monday morning, when a neighbor woman walked into the house and discovered the slain family of five persons.

So interested is Governor Stubbs in the finger prints clue that today he notified local officers he would send a man here to examine the impressions. The governor's letter did not state the name of the expert, but he is supposed to be from Lansing, Mich.,
where Charles Maynard, the suspect
in the Showman case, was confined.
John Smitherfield, the suspect, picked up at Kanopolis yesterday remains in jail.

Eminent Lecturer May Give Talk to Winter Night Club

The executive committee of the Winter Night club has appointed the following members to serve on a committee of nominations: Dr. William P. Stocum, W. C. Sturks, Henry C.
Hall, Dr. E. R. Nepper and Dr. Edward S. Parsons. They will select the officers of the club for the coming year and will make their report early in November.

The executive committee is arranging, if at all possible, to secure Dr.
John Cox as speaker for the November meeting. Dr. Cox is at present visiting China and Japan on his return to England from Australia. Where he has been lecturing in the interest of the university extension scheme, having been requested by the educational committee of the London county council to undertake this journey around the world in the cause of science. Dr. Cox has been remarkably well received everywhere and his lectures have had a constantly growing attendance. The Western Australian, in an editorial,
says: "The large hall of the building was again crowded by a keen-sighted audience. The gratifying attendance, which make the present series a memorable one, may be taken as a tribute both to the inherent interest of the subject and to the lecturer himself."

Dr. Cox has already had opportunities on the local platform of proving his versatility and charm as a lecturer.
He brings to his subject a clear and graceful diction and a happy resource in the way of homely and apposite illustration.

Dr. Cox is a fellow of Cambridge university and was for some years director of the department of experimental physics of McGill university at Montreal. He is a recognized authority in his line of work.

HOTEL WHERE BYRON MET SCOTT CLOSFS

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Long's hotel, 16, New Bond street, one of the most famous establishments of its kind in London, which has been in existence for over a century and a half, has closed its doors. On the front entrance is written a notice asking visitors to "Ring bell at side," but no other indication that the hotel's career has come to an end.

The literary associations of Long's are very interesting. Here Byron and Sir Walter Scott met for the last time in 1815. "He dined or lunched with me," wrote Scott, "at Long's hotel in Bond street. I never saw him so full of gaiety and good humor as on the presence of Mr. Mathews, the comedian, added not a little. Poor Terry was also present."

"While there can be no doubt that at one time Long's hotel was a great gambling and betting place during the Regency," says a correspondent of the Times, "it was noted for refinement and family comfort in contrast to Stevens at No. 13 Bond street, which had an entrance in Clifford street, opposite Long's. Stevens' during the Regency was the headquarters for officers of the army and men about town, and Captain Gronow tells us that if a stranger wanted to dine there he would be stared at by the servants and very solemnly assured that there was no table vacant."

"In later years Stevens became scarcely more than an annex to Long's hotel, glad to receive its surplus visitors. A few years ago Stevens' hotel, where during the seven or eight years before his marriage Byron occasionally lived, ceased to exist. Up to the last, and in spite of the rebuilding of the place a quarter of a century ago, Long's hotel preserved much of the character and atmosphere of the old-fashioned London hotel of half a century ago."

SPECIAL DAY AT SWIMMING POOL FOR DENVER TEACHERS

DENVER, Oct. 21.—Teacher isn't going to let the kids put anything over on her when it comes to the art of swimming.

All the school ma'ams in Denver public schools are learning how to emulate Annette Kellerman. The request of the Denver Teachers' club for "teachers' day" at the public bath house has been granted by Mayor Speer, and now every Tuesday afternoon between 3 and 6 o'clock teacher disports herself in the big swimming pool. Everybody else is barred from the pool on that afternoon during that hour, the teachers preferring to have their swimming lessons out of sight of the critical eyes of their pupils.

Miss Anna L. Force, president of the club, heads Tuesday's erudite mermaid brigade.

SAFEGUARD FOR AERONAUTS

WRIGHT CAMP, Kildeer, Ill. N. C., Oct. 21.—The Wright brothers, Orville and Wilbur, inventors of the aeroplane, have perfected a discovery expected to add vastly to the safety of aviation. Orville Wright decided to give the announcement of his invention to the world last night, and to put the device into practical use for the first time today.

In brief, Mr. Wright's statement was that he had perfected a device for the automatic controlling of gliders, and power-driven aeroplanes, to keep such machines at proper balance in the air. It is expected to relieve him of the work of balancing it in the air, enormously increasing the safety of the aviator and of the machine.

BUSINESS MEN OF OURAY GO AFTER CHEAPER RATES

OURAY, Colo., Oct. 21.—At a meeting of representative members of the chamber of commerce, a reorganization of the body was effected to take up the fight soon to be waged by Ouray county for better freight rates. The outcome of the conference at Grand Junction, October 2, between the chamber of commerce of that city and an interstate commerce commissioner is looked forward to with great interest by Ouray business men. If decided in favor of the Grand Junction territory, steps will be taken immediately by Ouray, Montrose and Delta counties to share in the readjustment of freight rates.

The new officers of the chamber are B. H. Du Prau, president; E. A. Finney, vice president; William Mathwell, secretary; E. H. Powell, treasurer. The directors are P. O. Byrne, Dr. Crosby, E. E. Wheeler, O. McCaffrey, E. Prisco, J. H. Dolan and I. Connick. B. H. Du Prau, William Mathwell, and E. H. Powell were appointed to investigate the freight rate situation here and report at a later meeting. It was said that $600 in the treasury would be used in the fight for lower rates.

DEMOCRATS TO CONVENT AT BALTIMORE

Republicans Will Meet either at Chicago or St. Louis, if Indications Are Correct.

1913 ORGANIZATION SOON

Two National Committees to Gather at Washington in December for Details

(By RODERICK CLIFFORD.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Each of the national committees of the two parties will meet in this city in December to organize for the 1912 campaign. At the same time they will name the places and dates for holding the two national conventions.

It is unlikely, as the situation now appears, that either committee will elect its chairman that far ahead of the contest, yet the friends of President Taft may decide to proceed with the selection of a Republican chairman, knowing already that the president is to be the nominee of his party to succeed himself.

More important than the selection of chairman, just now, is the preliminary groundwork for the campaign. This campaign must be financed, it must be mapped out far in advance of the convention, and it must be under way by the first of the year. To make these things possible will be the object of the first meeting of each body.

Finances Are Problem.

One of the most serious problems now facing the Republican leaders is that of raising money. In the past this party has not lacked for sinews of war, that is, it has not lacked for funds since the halcyon days of the late Mark Hanna. This time the party managers are not so certain about contributions.

This is due to the fact that the big business interests, which in the past looked upon the Republican party as their chief guardian, and whose prospective policy largely made their property possible, no longer feel the same kindly interest for the Republican. The party of high protection is now pledged to a reduction in the tariff, and the party that once stood between big business and the radicals, is now launched upon a policy of attacking big business wherever it is represented in a trust.

Interests Are Wary.

That is exactly why money is going to be harder to get next year than any year in 20. The eastern manufacturers who in days gone by contributed generously to the "pork barrel" of the Republican party are not as enthusiastic over the outlook as they were before reciprocity was championed by the president, and before the tariff walls began to crumble and totter. They have already served warning upon the party managers that they must have some guarantee for the future before they will offer any substantial assistance next year.

Then, too, the trust prosecutions alienated many of the sources of Republican campaign funds. Wall street, the very heart of the trust, has in other days aided handsomely in Republican campaigns. Now Wall street is in a state of rage over the activities of the department of justice, and has intimated more than once that it will punish the Republican party in the next fight.

Of course, neither the manufacturers nor the big corporations expect anything from the Democratic party unless, perhaps, some conservative like Governor Harmon is nominated, and will not, therefore, be inclined to contribute to the success of this party. They probably mean to withhold their money from both parties, inasmuch as neither offers anything in return.

Condition Favorable for Democrats.

This makes the question of raising a campaign fund more serious for the leaders of the Republican party, than for those of the Democratic hosts. The Democrats have never had the financial support of the big moneyed interests anyway, and they will not miss what they have never possessed. The opposition party, however, has had it and it will be at a disadvantage without it.

Both national committees will want to discuss the issues of the forthcoming campaign before congress gets down to work for the long session, and committee men will want to talk over these issues with the leaders of the two parties in the house and senate. Much depends upon the work of the coming session and upon the policies which are made effective by the legislators.

At this time it appears that the tariff is to be the one paramount issue of the fight. Yet congress is may minimize that question by its revision bills. The president has announced that he will recommend a revision program based upon the findings of the tariff board. The Democrats have already shown their hand in regard to the great economic question. This they did in the last session.

Tariff an Important Factor.

Should the tariff board recommend reductions in the wool, cotton, steel, chemical and oil schedules to the point demanded by the Democrats, the Taft administration would be committed to such reductions. Both parties would need such support to excite the two parties as it does now. By the time the two committees assemble here, it is expected that the work of the tariff board will be known and that calculations can be made.

The committee will, at their meeting, name the dates and the places of holding the next convention. It is practically settled that the Democrats will go to Baltimore. That city has found that congress will probably adjourn as early as May 16, the conventions will be held some time in July. Should the session be prolonged until the 15th of June or later, the convention dates will be fixed for August.

It is impossible to tell at the beginning of a session of congress exactly when adjournment will come, but the party leaders are able to figure within one or two weeks of the time, especially in years of presidential elections.

TO REVIVE LACE MAKING

BRUSSELS, Oct. 21.—Queen Elisabeth, wife of the king of the Belgians, has just inaugurated the formation of a private company called La Dentelliers, whose business it will be to promote the revival of lace making, principally in Brussels, Machin and Aruges, to restore the fashion of lace wearing and to provide for the exportation of Belgian lace to different parts of the world, especially South America. The king himself figures among the founders of this company, being represented on the board by his private secretary, M. Ingenbleek.

It is expected that, under such patronage and with the provision of such outlets, lace making, which the queen is promoting in several special schools, and which had been on the wane for the last 30 or 40 years, will soon again become the current occupation of the Flemish lazes and will produce masterpieces equal to those which once made the "point" de Bruxelles, de Malines or de Bruges famous and most profitable to the country.

When you have a bad cold you want the best medicine obtainable so as to cure it with as little delay as possible. Here is a druggist's opinion: "I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for fifteen years," says Enos Lollar of Saratoga, Ind., "and consider it the best on the market." For sale by all dealers.

EJYS WHO WOULD BE SCOUTS LEAD POLICE MERRY CHASE

PIERCE, Colo., Oct. 21.—After eluding the police of four states, Roy Hodgkins, 13, Homer Overlock, 13, and Andy Barnes, 11, who last Saturday night left comfortable homes in Minneapolis to become scouts on the western plains, arrived yesterday at the home of their uncle, H. H. Barnes. The expedition was suggested by moving picture shows. All were Boy Scouts and each had a savings bank. Secretly providing themselves with bedding, guns, traps and ammunition, they purchased half-fare tickets to Sterling, Colo. At Omaha they narrowly escaped arrest and managed to reach Pierce with 20 cents among them.

EXHIBITS AND TENTS OF FARM CONGRESS REMOVED

About all that remains of the sixth International Dry-Farming congress is the memory of the people and the things that were here last week. The big tents on Nevada avenue have been removed, and only a few boards remain.

The exhibits shown by Tillman Reuter of Madras, Ore., and the chamber of commerce of Prescott, Ariz., were shipped yesterday afternoon to New York to be entered in the public lands show. Mr. Reuter took 23 individual prizes, and 26 were won by the Arizona commercial body.

Count Ferdinand Nemes of Belgium; Samuel McIntosh, government expert from Australia; Count von Lieben from Hungary; Dr. C. E. Taylor of Moine, Ill.; Malcolm A. Fraser, secretary of the Prescott chamber of commerce; and Prof. A. M. McConnel, Arizona director of agriculture, will leave today for Arizona, where the foreign experts and soil experts will visit a few days.

"We are pleased that Canada has secured the congress for next year, and hope it will go to Europe in the near future," said Mr. McIntosh, "and later to Australia and South America. We all had a good time in Colorado Springs."

FORMERLY LIVED HERE

H. H. Emrich, Murdered in Russia Last Wednesday, Had Attended Cutler Academy in Colo. Springs.

It has been learned that Horace H. Emrich, murdered in Russia, last Wednesday, was the Horace Emrich who formerly attended Cutler academy in this city, and who had many friends here. Mr. Emrich was manager of large copper properties in Russia. It is not known just why he was murdered, but it is believed by his relatives that the assassination was due to vengeance caused by Emrich's activity in securing the prosecution of people who were implicated in a large gold robbery about a year ago.

Emrich is survived by a wife and two children, one of whom is but two weeks old. The funeral was held in Russia, Friday afternoon. Mrs. Emrich will return to her mother, Mrs. Nina P. Robinson, in Denver, as quickly as she is able to travel with her infant child.

Officers Vainly Look for Alleged Assailant

A number of officers, headed by Deputy Sheriff Burns, were scouring the country east of Colorado Springs, yesterday, searching for Dan Pluggill, who is said to have stabbed P. J. Lopez. Both men are Mexican sheep herders. A quarrel arose over their work and a fight ensued. Lopez is at St. Francis hospital, with a knife wound through his right lung. Dr. E. L. McKinnin, county physician, who treated the case, said that the injury is not necessarily fatal, unless pneumonia sets in. The fight occurred Friday evening, seven miles east of Colorado Springs, it is said.

TRIES TO SAVE BOSS; MAY DIE OF INJURIES

It is thought that Charles Rowley, formerly of this city, will die of injuries received in Boise, Ida., about two weeks ago, while trying to save his employer, who had fallen into a gravel pit. Rowley slipped and fell from a derrick, breaking his back. Miss Blanche Rowley, employed at the Perkins Crockery company, sister of Charles, returned yesterday from Boise, where she has been caring for her brother.

CREMA REMEDY ALSO WASHES PIMPLES AWAY

It is now generally known that there is nothing that can equal D. D. D. as a household remedy for all skin troubles, no matter what they are.

We, ourselves, are so fully convinced of the merits of this wonderful remedy that we will charge you nothing if the first full bottle of D. D. D. does not also drive away "Crema."

ATTORNEY GENERAL WILL AID IN TEST PROCEEDINGS

Griffith to Join in Investigation of Constitutionality of Newly-Created Court of Appeals.

At the request of the State Bar association, which is to test the constitutionality of the new court of appeals, Attorney General Ben Griffith has agreed to have the case go through his office on quo warranto proceedings.

The State Bar association, of which Henry C. Hall of this city is president, has not decided what members of the association will be named to assist the attorney general. They will be selected tomorrow, it is said, at which time the papers also will be filed in the supreme court.

Mr. Hall returned from Denver yesterday, where he was in consultation with William H. Wadley, secretary of the bar association, relative to the case. Mr. Wadley's invitation to the attorney general, which has been accepted, follows:

"I hereby certify that I am the secretary of the Colorado Bar association, and that at a meeting of its executive committee duly called, the following resolution was unanimously adopted, to-wit:

"Be it resolved: That in view of the doubt existing among members of the bar in this state, concerning the de jure status of the court of appeals and of the right of the appointees of the governor to act as judges thereof, information in the nature of quo warranto be filed in the supreme court at the instance of the association and the members of its executive committee to challenge the right of Tully Scott, A. R. King, Louis W. Cunningham, Stuart D. Walling and Edward W. Hurlbut to exercise functions as judicial officers of this state and that the president of this association be, and he hereby is, requested to select members of the Colorado bar as counsel to represent the relation in the prosecution of said action; and further, that this association request the attorney general to act as relator in conjunction with this association and the members of its executive committee, and in the event of his being unwilling to act as relator, then to appear as counsel for the relator in said action in conjunction with counsel selected by the president as aforesaid."

"(Signed) WILLIAM H. WADLEY, Secretary of the Colorado Bar Association."

WILLIAM T. EWING PASSED AWAY ON OCTOBER 14, 1911, AT COLORADO SPRINGS, AT THE AGE OF 42.

He was born in Paxton, Illinois, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ewing, of Piper City, Illinois.

He spent 11 years in the lumber business in Chicago before coming west for his health.

On July 23, 1902, he was married to Miss Jennie Anderson of Washington, Iowa, who with their little daughter Jane, survive him.

Mr. Ewing has been manager of the Colorado Springs branch of the Hall-Lumber and Supply company since its establishment in this city.

His success in the business world was largely due to his kindly manner, excellent business ability and genuine Christian character. He made friends with no effort on his part.

Mr. Ewing's sudden death, due to acute Bright's disease, was a surprise and shock to his many friends.

As a son he was considerate, as a husband, faithful, loving and indulgent, as a friend, true and helpful.

Now the battle day is over. Now the battle day is past. Now upon the farther shore Lands the voyager at last. Father, in thy gracious keeping. Leave us now thy servant sleeping.

FORMER SPRINGS MAN WILL WED IN DENVER

The engagement of Miss Marguerite Bromfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bromfield, to Marvin Alden Simpson, formerly of Colorado Springs, has been announced in Denver. The marriage will be celebrated Wednesday, December 20, at the home of the bride's parents, 1640 Emerson street. The only witnesses will be near relatives and friends. The Rev. J. H. Houghton will officiate. The young couple are planning a honeymoon trip abroad, and, upon their return, probably will reside in Los Angeles. Miss Bromfield has often visited in Colorado Springs and Manitou.

STUDENT BODY TO VOTE ON QUESTION TOMORROW

During the first period, tomorrow morning, the student body of the High school will vote upon the proposed form of student government. The objectionable parts have been changed, and the faculty has approved the constitution as it now stands. It is thought that the students will accept it. The constitution is important from the fact that it regulates the holding of school honors. In past years, a few of the more popular boys and girls have held all the honors, but under the new system pupils will be prohibited from holding more than a certain number each year.

WOMEN FROM SEVERAL STATES AT CLUB MEET

Delegates to Recent Farm Congress Guests of Organization at the October Conference

The October general meeting of the Woman's club of Colorado Springs was held yesterday afternoon. The assembly hall was well filled when the meeting was called to order by Mrs. George A. Boyd, president, as a number of those in attendance at the international farm congress accepted the invitation to be present. Among the states represented were California, Washington, Louisiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma.

During the preliminary business meeting, Mrs. John E. White was elected corresponding secretary of the club in place of Mrs. Willard Hemenway, whose resignation was accepted with announced regret.

Mrs. Mary C. C. Bradford, of Denver, former state president of the Federation of Women's clubs, gave an eloquent address recalling the successful campaign for equal suffrage in Colorado 18 years ago when El Paso county scored such an overwhelming majority. Mrs. Lucrilia Watson Taylor, of San Francisco, whose mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Low Watson, is president of the California Equal Suffrage association, was present and gave an interesting resume of the late campaign in her state in which equal suffrage carried by a majority of over 4,000.

Mrs. Taylor spoke appreciatively of the great assistance received from the Colorado women, several of whom were in California speaking in the interest of equal suffrage. She spoke also of the valuable advice received from Colorado women who were actively identified with the movement when it was obtained in this state.

Mrs. Joseph S. Whitehead, chairman of the home and education department, had charge of the program. There were reports from the state meeting of the Colorado Federation of Women's clubs by Mrs. Robert Kerr, Mrs. Thomas B. Pyles, Mrs. H. Hoyt Stevens, Mrs. L. A. Miller, Mrs. James H. Vetterli, Mrs. J. Alford Jeancon and others.

As a compliment to the visitors, the tea table was beautifully decorated by Mrs. H. H. Stevens to represent farm products. The red of the apples and the yellow of the oranges carried out the club colors, as did the candlesticks of carrots holding red candles. The large square table bore a centerpiece of vegetables and fruits bordered with kinkikinkik, the club flower. Those presiding at the coffee urn were Mrs. O. E. Hemenway and Mrs. J. E. White. The ice cream was served by Mrs. Lora Fairley and Mrs. T. B. Pyles.

Handsome Chairs for Burns Theater; Opens About Last of Year

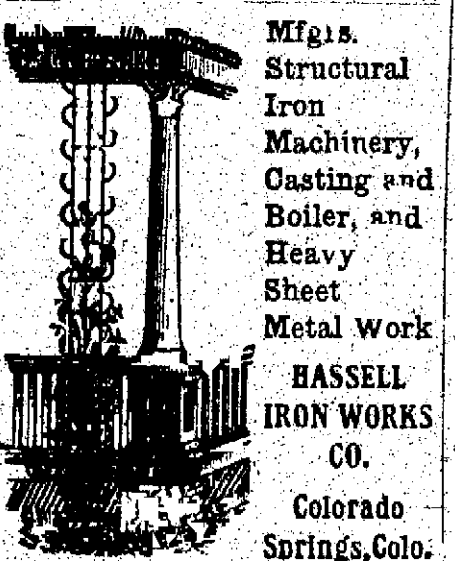

Owing to the delay necessary in securing the exact chairs desired, the new Burns theater will not open until about the last of the year. The seating of the theater is in the hands of the American Seating company, the contract having been so far advanced that its local representative, E. H. Furber, the chairs are unusually comfortable, and of an artistic design. The framework is made of seasoned birch and is upholstered in velvet, the seats being built over springs. Both the chairs and the arms are very wide and calculated to enhance the comfort of the theatergoers.

The balcony chairs, which are of a special design, are built along the same lines as the orchestra ones. They will be upholstered in Spanish more-collie. In the gallery, some of the seats will be identical with those in the balcony, and all will be durable and comfortable. All the seats used in the theater have been especially designed for the building, so that they will harmonize with the interior decorations.

TUNNEL WORK PROGRESSING

High appreciation of the work being done on the Roosevelt deep drainage tunnel at Cripple Creek is expressed by mine owners. An extension of 100 feet has been made since work was resumed, and the outflow of water has been increased 500 gallons a minute. The bore will be pushed ahead as rapidly as possible, and it is believed that highly satisfactory results will be secured.

EXECUTION IS DELAYED

Through the filing in the state supreme court at Denver of a bill of exceptions and an application for a writ of supersedeas, George King, convicted murderer of Peter Jackson, will not be hanged this week. King was tried and convicted last July and sentenced to be hanged during the week ending October 23.

Because of the action of his attorneys, a stay of execution has been granted until the case has been reviewed by the supreme court. The stenographic notes of the trial were accidentally destroyed, and when the court declined to grant a new trial on that ground, King's attorneys contended that the trial judge, J. W. Shearer, erred.

dined with the young music student last Saturday afternoon, a few hours before she took the cyanide of potassium from which she died.

That the police have discovered the restaurant at which Miss Linnell ate lunch on Saturday and that Mr. Richeson was the man who accompanied her was reported from headquarters late today. It was said that a young woman at the Y. W. C. A. building had furnished this information. The witness who is believed to be the last person to talk with Miss Linnell before she took the poison, says the girl declared:

"I dined with Mr. Richeson."

In pursuing this line of investigation the police say they have learned from a Cambridge man that on Thursday of last week the minister was overheard to make an appointment by telephone to luncheon on Saturday with some person at the Y. W. C. A. John F. Danksin, the informant said, Mr. Richeson had called Miss Linnell on the telephone from the Danksin home on several occasions and Mrs. Danksin heard this conversation.

It is understood that Mr. Richeson wrote out in his cell his resignation as pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church, Cambridge. His parishioners were given to understand last night that his resignation would be forthcoming tomorrow.

The Rev. Richeson came here from Cambridge, Mass., in 1906, returning

GOLD BRICK IS HANDED

with a laugh: "How are you away there?"

"Fine, old boy, glad to see you."

President is "Gold-Bricked."

Mr. Taft also spent some time in the government assay office at Lead and watched the casting of a real gold brick. Later the president was shown a room full of the bricks, each of which weighs 125 pounds and worth about $20,000 apiece. Some one "stumped" the president to lift a brick. He picked up one with the greatest ease.

Senator Gamble tried to do likewise but was not so successful.

In this city where he spoke shortly after noon on the tariff votes, the president was presented with a small gold brick worth more than $200.

"It is a great pleasure to gold-brick the president," Representative Martin said in making the speech. "It is a great pleasure to be gold-bricked in this way," the president replied.

Mr. Taft received a noisy welcome both in Deadwood and in Lead. Practically the entire population of the two communities turned out to greet him. The president, accompanied by Representative Martin, at Lead he was presented with a replica of a miner's candlestick done in gold.

Early in the day the president spoke at Edgemont and at Custer. After leaving here he spoke at Sturgis and Rapid City, leaving the latter city at 10 p. m. for Pierre, where he will spend Sunday and Sunday night.

Indians Want Lands Back.

RAPID CITY, S. D., Oct. 21.—President Taft reached here tonight a hour behind schedule time. He was entertained at dinner and made an address. The president was met by a committee of citizens and by a delegation of Indians, including Chief John Kills-a-Hundred, Chief High Hawk, Chief Dog, and Chief White Bull.

Chief Black Thunder and Chief White Mashed from the Sioux reservation. They gave the president a large pipe of peace.

The Sioux chiefs presented a petition to the president asking for the return of the Black Hills to the Indians. They declared that they never intended to give up the land to the white man and they wanted it back "right now."

If this were not convenient they wanted 50 cents an acre "to put in our pockets." When Mr. Taft promised to give the matter due consideration the chiefs granted "heap good."

WHITE GIRL KILLED BY HER INDIAN SWEETHEART

OROVILLE, Cal., Oct. 21.—Angered by the refusal of his white sweetheart to return to him, Edward Williams, a half-breed Indian, last night shot and killed young Inez Brooks and Mrs. Lillie A. Mullen, her friend and seriously wounded William Mullen, a boy. Williams was shot by D. J. Mullen, the lad's father, in a running duel and probably will die.

DEMOCRATS WHO WERE ABSENT TAKE STAND

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 21.—Two of the three Democratic assemblymen who absented themselves from the legislature on March 4, 1909, and thus gave Sen. Isaac Stephenson a majority sufficient to elect him, denied before the senatorial investigating committee that they were influenced by money. The third has died since the election.

John Farrell of Milwaukee testified he was eating dinner outside the capitol building when Senator Stephenson was elected. He attributed his attitude to indifference.

Shas A. Towne, another member, said he had come to the conclusion it was useless to try to elect a Democratic senator and he decided to allow the Republicans to elect whom they pleased.

After the election Assemblyman F. R. Zimmerman testified he talked with the absentees to Assemblyman J. A. Domachowski.

Domachowski told, he was offered $1,500 for his vote, said Zimmerman. "I asked him what he meant by that. He said if he was offered that, I could guess about the rest. Afterwards, I understand he testified the whole thing to be a joke."

It was announced that Edward Hines, the lumberman, would be summoned and probably would be called upon to testify early next week.

These are the vanguard of army and navy students who will study aviation under Glenn Curtiss.

How to Destroy the Dandruff Germ

BY A SPECIALIST.

That the dandruff germ is responsible for heavy hair dandruff to which the scalp is heir, as well as for baldness and premature gray hair, is a well known fact, but when we realize that it is also indirectly responsible for many of the worst cases of catarrh and consumption, we appreciate the importance of its eradication. It will also almost immediately destroy its power. We are, therefore, particularly pleased to give herewith the prescription which is a scientific statement. He has found, after repeated tests, to completely destroy the dandruff germ in three to three applications. It will also almost immediately stop falling hair and it has in numerous cases produced a new hair growth after years of baldness. This prescription can be made up at home, of any drugstore will put it up for you. It contains: Bay Rum, 2 ounces; Lavender Compound, one-half drachm; Menthol Crystals. Mix thoroughly, and after standing half an hour it is ready for use. Apply night and morning, rubbing into the scalp with the finger-tips. If you wish it perfumed, add half a teaspoonful of To-Kalon Perfume, which unites perfectly with the other ingredients. While this preparation is not a dye, it is unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color. Caution: Do not apply where hair is not desired and be sure to avoid tonics containing poisonous wood alcohol.

U. S. FLEET IN CHINESE WATERS GREATER THAN OF ANY OTHER POWER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—A fleet of American warships greater than that of any foreign power, or even of China, will be in Chinese waters by Monday. Twelve vessels, three cruisers, two destroyers, five gunboats, one transport and one minesweeper, commanded by Rear Admiral Mahan, will be assembled in the Yangtze-Kiang, on at its mouth.

Admiral Mahan returned from Manila to Shanghai, at the mouth of the river, aboard the transport Bainbridge. The cruiser Albatross, carrying two marines, the New York and the flagship of Admiral Mahan, at Shanghai during the recent war and the third-class steamer Albany, came on their way from Manila to Shanghai.

The destroyers Barry and Decatur and the cruiser, New Orleans have been ordered from Shanghai to Nanking, which is 100 miles above Shanghai and twice that far from Hankow, the center of the revolutionary activity.

The gunboats, Helms, Dolan and Villalobos are off Hankow, and the Samar is a little further down the river. The Wilmington, a gunboat, which has arrived at Canton, makes the twelfth American warship in these waters.

Mobilizes 20,000 Men.

PEKIN, Oct. 21.—Gen. Yin Tehang, the war minister who is in the neighborhood of Sin Yang Chiao, in Hunan province, has completed the mobilization of 20,000 men, but the opinion is held here that he has no intention for the present to begin an advance against the revolutionaries holding the towns of Wuhan, Hun Yang and Hankow.

The provinces of Hunan and Hupei are divided by a high range of hills, through which the only pass for miles is traversed by the railway. It is reported that this pass is held by the rebels, who have posted guns. They are supposed to have cut off 4,000 imperial troops, which are fleeing northward from Hankow.

The government first mentioned Kwang-Sui, which is on the south slope of the hills, as the place of Yin Tehang's mobilization, but evidently the war minister has been content to assemble his forces on the north side of the hills. The pass is believed to be impassable by the troops under Yin Tehang.

It is stated significantly that Yin Tehang intends to perfect his organization before advancing against the rebels holding Wuhan Chao, which is some miles below Hankow, at the narrowest point of the Yangtze-Kiang.

Stampede Imperialists.

A reliable report has reached here, that on the morning of October 18 the third brigade of government troops arriving at the Lin-Chai-Miao station, were fired upon by rebels with 30 field guns, whereupon the whole brigade stampeded to the north. The provisional troops hastened to their aid, but without avail, as the rout could not be checked.

The same advices add that the brigade had no option but to return to Sin Yang Chiao and await reinforcements. Lin-Chai-Miao is about 65 miles from Kwang-Shui, and it is therefore evident if the report of the rout is true, that the government does not hold Kwang-Shui.

The American consul at Chefoo reports to the legation that the shunning cities are quiet. The consuls, however, are swimming with straits. The Chefoo bank failed yesterday.

Edward C. Baker, the newly appointed American consul at Chungking, Szechuan province, is temporarily located at Chungking in Hu Pei province, which seceded.

YOUR STOMACH TROUBLE WILL END FOREVER

Take a Little Diapiesin Now and Your Stomach Will Feel Fine Five Minutes Later.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, if you feel bloated after eating, if you believe it is the food which fills you, if that little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something to stop food fermentation and cure indigestion.

To make every bite of food you eat aid in the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas, which sour your entire meals—interfere with digestion, and causes so many sufferings of dyspepsia, sick headache, biliousness, constipation, griping, etc. Your case is no different—you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapiesin will cost fifty cents at any Pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking a single dose that Fermentation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of Indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that a certain cure is waiting at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapiesin will execute any out-of-order Stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any loss or discomfort, all of any kind of food you eat.

Mrs. Emma Trentini, the little prima donna, who recently averted a plane while singing at the Columbus day exercises in Pittsburgh, Pa. While she was singing part of the grand old hymn, "America," a rush was made by the frightened crowd. Mrs. Trentini was caught in the rush and narrowly escaped being hurt. She aided in quieting the people.

metropolitan officials next month. The government has withdrawn all its customs receipts amounting to 700,000 taels from Dabney and Tsing Tao.

Advices from Kaileng say that recruiting is going on actively. Most of the Manchukuo troops have left for the south, and there appears to be no disposition among the men. It has been deemed advisable, however, to guard the ammunition sent southward, and this is being done entirely by Manchukuo soldiers.

Bandits are numerous in the southern districts, particularly Kwan Chau and Su Chau. Troops charged them near Lushan, killing hundreds.

Rebels Capture Shantung.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—Sun Pa, son of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, president of the revolutionists, received a cablegram today announcing that the province of Shantung had fallen into the hands of the revolutionists.

Shantung is a province on the Yellow sea, about 65,000 square miles in extent, and containing 20,000,000 inhabitants. It adjoins the province of Chihli, in which Peking is situated.

Cables received today by local Chinese newspapers stated that revolutionary troops were mobilizing for attacks on Canton and Peking.

PERKIN, Oct. 21.—A dispatch received here from the British consul at Hankow, dated noon, October 20, reads:

"The railroad station at Kilometres was evacuated by the imperial forces. The revolutionists are now holding the station at Ten-Mile creek. The loyalist warships have retreated out of sight of Hankow."

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Oct. 21.—Arling, or Hugh Robinson, tonight announced he had given up his attempt to fly with a hydro-aeroplane from Minneapolis to New Orleans along the Mississippi river. He gave as a reason the failure of the river cities to furnish sufficient financial support.

NAGEL STANDS UP FOR IMMIGRATION SERVICE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. Secretary Nagel of the department of commerce and labor in a public statement today defended the immigration service against the general charges of unfair treatment of immigrants, which were voiced by delegates before the convention of the German-American Alliance in Washington several days ago.

TWO COMETS NOW VISIBLE

One Can Be Seen in West Just Before Sunset—Other in East in Early Morning

SAN JOSE, Cal., Oct. 21.—Astronomers now, according to the U. S. National observatory, are observing the unusual experience of observing two bright comets, one in the western sky shortly after sunset, the other in the eastern sky in the early morning.

"The former, discovered by M. Delavay, on September 28, and Dr. Aitken last night, has not reached its point of nearest approach to the sun, almost grazing the sun's disk, and is now traveling rapidly away from it. At present it is a conspicuous object for miles, as observed from a very bright head and a tail about seven degrees long. It should be looked for at little north of the sunset point, immediately after dark. It will probably remain visible for at least a week longer."

"The head of the other comet, discovered by Dr. Brooks last July, is brighter now than that of Halley's at its brightest, and as it is still traveling toward the sunset, should increase in brightness during the next few days. Last night, in spite of moonlight, it will about 20 degrees. For the remainder of the month it will be a brilliant object in the morning sky, north of Venus, the morning star. The best time to see it is a little before 5 o'clock."

"In addition to these two bright comets, at least four others, visible only with the telescope, are known to be in the neighborhood of the sun. One of these, Kuck's comet, returns to the sun at regular intervals of about three and one-half years, and has been observed at more returns than any other comet. Another is now making its second visit to the sun. The remaining two, like the two bright comets, move in what astronomers call parabolic orbits, and are now seen for the first time, as far as is known."

CHARGES GIRL-WIFE WAS ENTICED AWAY BY JAPS

DENVER, Oct. 21.—Claiming that his bride of six months, a girl not yet 17 years of age, was being enticed away from her home by Japanese in the Market street district, D. H. Phillips of 1212 Larimer street, a former Kansas ranchman, applied to the police and last night in getting his wife out of a Japanese restaurant at 1212 Ninth street.

The case was put in the hands of the state humane society and the girl, Mrs. Hazel Phillips, was taken in custody by State Humane officer David and lodged in jail. An entry of safe keeping was placed beside her name on the police blotter.

The investigation which was started last night elicited certain statements from the girl, which may lead to charges being filed against one or more prominent physicians in Denver in connection with an operation of illegal character to which the girl submitted less than two weeks ago and which nearly resulted in her death, according to the girl's own statement.

Information will be placed in the hands of the district attorney for further investigation. If the evidence substantiates the statements made by the girl, action may be taken by the district attorney.

FELT GRATEFUL SO TRIES TO FEED MONEY TO HORSE

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—William Holston was fined $1 yesterday by Judge Walkey of the municipal court as the result of trying to feed $50 in fresh green hills to a horse hitched to a truck.

"It was this way, your honor," explained Holston. "I drove $50 from the bank to buy clothes, and invested some in drinks. I used to be a cab driver and I met a horse that had once saved my life by refusing to let me drive him off the Clark street bridge on a dark and stormy night."

"I felt so bad for that poor old horse that I burst into tears, flung the rest of the $50 out of my pocket and offered it to him."

"All right," said Judge Walker. "I'll fine you $1 for being drunk."

THE SANTA FE TRAIL, OLD, AND NEW

Now Famous Pass Placed on Map of World's Commerce in 1821—United States First Sets Seal Upon New Beginning Point Four Years Later: Start of Road Shifts With the Years—Maps Made by Surveyor J. C. Brown in 1837, and Filed at Washington—Fur Traders Journey to Santa Fe in 1812, Following Lieutenant Pike's Directions—Only One Trip a Year Then Possible; Now Made Easily by Auto in 10 Days
By WALTER W. WILLIAMS

When William Becknell, blue-eyed, long-legged, unlearned in 1821, two leagues of Spanish silver on the floor of a country store in Santa Fe, Mo., the Santa Fe trail was on the map of the world's commerce. Becknell there and been for in fur and silver with the high-speaking inhabitants of Santa Fe and the Indians of the mesa near Baptiste La Lande, a Frenchman, had gone out in 1804 as agent of a merchant of Kaskaskia, Ill., William Morrison, had sold the merchant's son, kept the money, married, a lean maiden and never returned to Kaskaskia. James Purely, a Kentuckian, had followed in La Lande's steps, becoming infatuated with the sunny climate of Santa Fe and took up his abode.

Montgomery Pike, lieutenant of the United States army and of adventure, had led Pike's expedition in 1806, discovered the high trail that bears his name and, suffering from the iron hand of Mexico, had returned to the United States with vivid accounts of commercial possibilities of the distant and mysterious southwest. A dozen other Americans, leaders of the large or small numbers, followed but there was no regularly organized expedition from the United States to Santa Fe until Becknell, after first trip, tumbled his Spanish coins a heap on the floor of the Frankfort.

No Visible Marker. The visible marker may rest on the beginning of the trail. The towns which may with historical accuracy be regarded as the starting point of the trail in its earliest days, under the waters of the Santa river, Kaskaskia, Ill., under waves of the Mississippi, and under the yellow flood of the Missouri river. The Santa Fe trail was born with a spoon in its mouth. Its purpose purely commercial. It had no

along the road where men and women might dwell and build a state.

Nobody built homes along the Santa Fe trail until years after its employment as the path of the trader. Stage stands were set up, and forts, adobe till house and custom house, where Dick Wootton and a Mexican officer sat at the receipt of customs, but never a dwelling house, a farm home. Bones bleached by the roadside. Death camped along the trail. Men risked danger for Spanish silver, but with never a thought of the possibilities of home-building. The land, they said, was distant and drear. The Great American desert was yet upon the

of Kansas City. The government had been appealed to by Missouri traders to survey and mark the trail and to protect the trading expeditions from Indian attack. The government officials thought the Santa Fe trail of too dim and doubtful value to justify action until Thomas Hart Benton, "Old Bullion," brought about the passage in 1821 of a bill in congress authorizing the president of the United States to appoint a commission to survey a road from the Missouri river to the boundary line of New Mexico and thence on Mexican territory with the consent of the Mexican authorities. The signing of the Benton bill was one of the last acts of the administration of President James Monroe. Commissioners were appointed by Monroe's successor, John Quincy Adams.

The beginning of the trail moved gradually westward. Steamboats came up the Missouri river to Franklin and the trail began there. Steamboats ascended to Arrow Rock, Lexington, Fort Osage, the Westport landing, and the beginning of the trail moved toward the sunset. Each town in turn became the starting point of the trail travelers and traders. Beyond the Missouri river the railroad fixed the beginning of the trail. Independence, Mo., was the starting point for a time. A dumpy-looking blacksmith shop off the Independence public square is yet pointed out as the place where ox wagons were repaired and horses shod for the Santa Fe trade. The railroad crept slowly across Kansas and the western terminus of the railroad became the eastern end of the trail. Where the railroad halted the trail took up its march, when the railroad moved on, the trail melted away. Today the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad—the Santa Fe, as it is known to those who travel upon it or dwell beside it—follows the line of the old trail and gets from the trail its name.

Shifts With the Years.

Thus the beginning of the Santa Fe trail shifts with the years. More towns than claimed great Homer dead can rightfully be conceded to be the place of beginning for the pathway of the gold seekers. Chief among these towns are Kaskaskia, Ill., St. Louis, St. Charles, Franklin, Lexington, Fort

Osage, Westport Landing, Independence, Mo., and Leavenworth, Kan. On the map of the republic's highways, recently issued by the department of the interior at Washington, the Santa Fe trail is shown with Fort Osage as starting point. This map is based upon the survey made by the United States government in 1837.

A Missourian declared a probable governorship in 1825 to accept a road commission. He would rather mark the Santa Fe trail than take the chance of becoming governor. Because he thus decided Missouri had for four months as governor Abraham J. Williams, a wooden-legged bachelor, son of a Columbia, and Benjamin H. Reeves of Howard county, lieutenant governor, resigning that office, is known as one of the fathers of the Santa Fe trail. The governor of Missouri, ill and probably unable to serve out his term, would have had Reeves as his successor in the chair of the chief executive, had not Reeves resigned.

Williams Becomes Governor.

Reeves did resign, the governor died in office, and, while Reeves was out on the desert making a new road, Williams, president pro tem of the state senate, took the governor's chair. Reeves had two colleagues, with him as road commissioners, under appointment of President John Quincy Adams, Major George C. Sibley of St. Charles, Mo., and Thomas Mather of Illinois. Major Sibley afterward founded Lindenwood college at St. Charles, the first Protestant school for girls west of St. Louis. The commissioners had, as surveyor Joseph C. Brown of St. Louis. This survey, of which the new government maps give account, began at Fort Osage, in Missouri, July 17, 1825, and arrived at the boundary line between shows the trail from Fort Osage to Santa Fe. This map is indorsed by Col. John I. Abert, of the United States corps of engineers, in 1844, who states that it is the original plot of the survey from Fort Osage to Santa Fe. Another map shows a survey from the United States boundary to Santa Fe. A manuscript atlas in the handwriting of George C. Sibley shows the route from the western boundary of Missouri to San Fernando de Taos, with notes and directions for travelers. There are 37 leaves of manuscript and drawing making 24 pages. It would be a reasonably accurate log book along most of the road for the automobile traveler of today.

The trader, not the road builder, was the real father of the Santa Fe trail. It was to him a trail, wabbling through the valleys, over the plains and across the mountains. He followed it for trade and, if his trading was speed with adventure, so much the better. Prior to 1818 traders and trappers made St. Louis their home. Here they outfitted and here, on returning, they found ready market for their furs. For a century the town of Laclede and Chouteau has remained the greatest primary fur market in the United States. Most of the early traders were of French or Spanish birth or descent. James Mackay, a Scotchman, in 1797, traded west of the Kaw river. He afterwards marked off the streets of early St. Louis and his son, Zeno Mackay, laid off Carondelet. Manuel Lisa, native of Cuba and of Spanish descent, established trading posts in the far west.

the United States and Mexico, September 11, 1825, 416 miles from Fort Osage. The party remained there until September 26. Winter was approaching and there must be preparation for it. Major Sibley and a small party started for Santa Fe, while Colonel Reeves and Colonel Mather, locating and marking the road, returned to Missouri. Contrary to their expectations, they found no difficulty in obtaining wood and water.

Route as Nature Opened It.

A most excellent route, they reported, could be had, "as nature opened it." Colonel Reeves said: "The route is entirely practicable for the heaviest vehicle, that the Indians had manifested great friendship and readily consented to the unobstructed use of the road through any part of their territory and guaranteed every protection in their power." Unfortunately for the white who followed on the trail, the American commissioners failed to take into account in their interviews and treaty making the Kiowas, the Comanches and other Indian tribes, treating only with the Osages and accepting their pledges of friendship. The commissioners met a deputation of the Osages soon after they started on their journey, and the Osages, in return for a small grant of money, cordially gave them the privilege to survey and establish a road through their territory. The place where the American commissioners and the Osage Indians met and framed the treaty was called by the commissioners Council Grove, Kansas, and now bears that name.

In the following year, 1826, the American commissioners obtained the reluctant consent of the Mexican government to examine routes in Mexican territory and began a survey at San Fernando de Taos and ran it to the west with the survey of 1825. The table of distances began at Fort Osage, 23 miles east of the west line of Missouri. The distances, beginning at Fort Osage were: Council Grove, 139 miles; Diamond Spring, 155 miles; Arkansas river, 255 miles; Mexican boundary, 417 miles; Silver Cimarron Spring, 417 miles; Middle Cimarron Spring, 514 miles; Upper Cimarron Spring, 533 miles; Canadian river, 668 miles; foot of mountains, 710 miles; summit of mountains, 727 miles; San Fernando de Taos, 745 miles; Santa Fe, 810 miles, or 795 miles from Independence, Mo.

Maps Filed at Washington.

Maps of this survey of the American commissioners, made by Joseph C. Brown, the surveyor, were filed with the war department at Washington. The first map, dated October 27, 1827, Coronado, who enjoyed the reputation of making the first journey through the region where the Santa Fe trail ran. He was searching for the Seven Cities of Cibola and the Kingdom of Quivira. Coronado had a good press agent.

Only recently has it been discovered that Cabeza merits the honor of the pioneer which the press agent, stories for three centuries gave Coronado. Luis de Moscoso, a lieutenant in De Soto's army, led an expedition westward into Kansas in 1542, seeking Coronado. He failed to find the Spanish commander, but did find "a trail of fire and blood," where, to quote the chronicler of the disastrous journey, the Spaniards "had many a desperate struggle with the Indians of the plains who were of gigantic stature and fought with heavy, strong clubs, with the desperation of demons. STATUE TO THE ATLANTA GUARD.
The unveiling of the statue, "The Spirit of Peace Forbidding War," dedicated to the "Old Guard," Tuesday, October 10 at Atlanta, Ga., was attended by hundreds of military and state officials throughout the north and east and brought to the city 10,000 soldiers, many of whom were clad in replicas of the decorated uniforms they wore when first organized. The statue is commemorative of the brave soldiers of the "Old Guard." It is a life-sized bronze group mounted on a pedestal of Georgia marble. It represents a soldier kneeling with his rifle aimed at his foe. He is stopped by an angel who forbids that he kill his fellow man.

Brief, practical and valuable comments on the International Sunday School Lessons for the year 1911.

THE FOUNDATIONS OF THE SECOND TEMPLE LAID

Lesson, Ezra iii, iv, v.
Golden Text, Psalm c:4.

"Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise."

(1) And when the seventh month was come, and the children of Israel were in the cities, the people gathered themselves together as one man to Jerusalem. (2) Then stood up Jeshua the son of Josadak, and his brethren the priests, and Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and his brethren, and builded the altar of the God of Israel, to offer burnt offerings thereon, as it is written in the law of Moses the man of God. (3) And they set the altar upon its base, for fear was upon them because of the people of the countries; and they offered burnt offerings thereon unto the Lord, even burnt offerings morning and evening. (4) And they kept the feast of tabernacles, as it is written, and offered the daily burnt offerings by number, according to the ordinance, as the duty of every day required; (5) and afterward the continual burnt offering, and the offerings of the new moons, and of all the set feasts of the Lord that were commanded, and of every one that willingly offered a free will offering unto the Lord. (6) From the first day of the seventh month began they to offer burnt offerings unto the Lord; but the foundation of the temple of the Lord was not yet laid. (7) They gave money also unto the masons, and to the carpenters; and meat, and drink, and oil, unto them of Zidon, and to them of Tyre, to bring cedar trees from Lebanon to the sea, unto Joppa, according to the grant that they had of Cyrus king of Persia. (8) Now in the second year of their coming unto the house of God at Jerusalem, in the second month, began Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua the son of Josadak, and the rest of their brethren the priests and the Levites, and all they that were come out of the captivity unto Jerusalem, and appointed the Levites from twenty years old and upward, to have the oversight of the work of the house of the Lord. (9) Then stood Jeshua with his sons and his brethren, Kadmiel and his sons, the sons of Judah, together, to have the oversight of the workmen in the house of God; the sons of Henadad, with their sons and their brethren the Levites. (10) And when the builders laid the foundation of the temple of the Lord, they set the priests in their apparel with trumpets, and the Levites the sons of Asaph with cymbals, to praise the Lord, after the order of David king of Israel. (11) And they sang one to another in praising and giving thanks unto the Lord, saying: "For he is good, for his mercy endureth for ever toward Israel." And all the people shouted with a great shout, when they praised the Lord, because the foundation of the house of the Lord was laid. (12) But many of the priests and Levites and heads of fathers' houses the old men that had seen the first house, when the foundation of this house was laid before their eyes, wept with a loud voice; and many shouted aloud for joy. (13) So that the people could not discern the noise of the shout of joy from the noise of the weeping of the people; for the people shouted with a loud shout, and the noise was heard afar off.

(14) Now when the adversaries of Judah and Benjamin heard that the children of the captivity builded a temple unto the Lord, the God of Israel: (15) then they drew near to Zerubbabel and to the heads of fathers' houses, and said unto them: "Let us build with you: for we seek your God, as ye do, and we do sacrifice unto him, since the days of Easar-haddon king of Assyria, which brought us up hither. (16) But Zerubbabel, and Jeshua, and the rest of the heads of fathers' houses of Israel said unto them, Ye have nothing to do with us to build an house unto our God; but we ourselves together will build unto the Lord, the God of Israel, as King Cyrus the king of Persia hath commanded us. (17) Then the people of the land weakened the hands of the people of Judah, and troubled them in building. (18) And hired counsellors against them to frustrate their purpose, all the days of Cyrus king of Persia, even unto the reign of Darius king of Persia.

THE STORY.

The reference to the seventh month in the opening part of our lesson is of course to the seventh month in the year of return. In the Hebrew calendar the seventh month was Tishri, and it was notable in the matter of its feasts. On the first day was the feast of tabernacles; calling the people together in holy convocation. On the tenth day was observed the great day of atonement. On the fifteenth commenced the feast of tabernacles. The gathering together of the people to Jerusalem was undoubtedly in connection with their observance of the feast of tabernacles. When they were assembled, Jeshua the high priest, together with Zerubbabel the governor, builded the altar and offered the burnt offerings according to the Mosaic command. Then in due course they observed the feast of tabernacles.

Thus in the seventh month of the first year, the whole system of worship was reestablished, and from then on, the daily sacrifice was offered morning and evening, and all the set feasts of the Lord were observed. So far, however, work upon the temple had not been commenced.

This was commenced in the second year of their return, and the second month. Then Zerubbabel the governor and Jeshua the high priest commenced the work of solemnly laying the foundations of the temple to the accompaniment of praise and thanksgiving, the burden of which was, "For he is good, for his mercy endureth for ever toward Israel."

Among the rejoicing multitude were priests and Levites and heads of fathers' houses, old men, who remembered the temple which had been destroyed, and the memory filled them with sorrow, and they added their lamentations to the songs of praise.

THE TEACHING.

In the action of the governor and the priest there was a recognition of the importance of putting first things first. There can be no question that the circumstances under which they had returned were peculiarly easy. The decree of the king had been such that they found themselves in their own land under the protection of the most influential earthly king, and not under his protection only, but evidently in his favor, for he had done all possible to facilitate their advent. Now all such circumstances of ease are fraught with peculiar peril. It would have been quite easy for these people to settle down to such material ease and comfort in forgetfulness of the fact that they were there by the direct intervention of Jehovah, and were responsible entirely to him. As a matter of fact this is largely what happened, as we shall see in subsequent lessons. Hence the importance of the action of the leaders.

It is a lesson needing perpetual reiteration, not only in national life, but in church life. It seems to be one of the easiest matters in the world to become so occupied with incidental and secondary matters as to be unmindful of the things essential and primary.

As we listen to the chanting of the Levites and the people, we are reminded of the close connection between this joy, filling the hearts of the people, and their recognition of the important principle with which we have been dealing, that namely, of putting first things first. As at last they saw the foundation course of the temple buildings laid, there seems to have come to them a new sense of their indebtedness to Jehovah. It is in the pathway of obedience that joy ever springs, because obedience to the divine law is always obedience to a law which is inspired by love; yielding to which, men come into all that is highest and best in life.

The waiting of the old men arrests our attention, and it is impossible to do other than recognize how natural it was. The way in which the fact is recorded here may leave it open to question whether the tears were the result of sorrow for past failure, or expressions of discontent with the poverty of the present situation as compared with the past. It is most probable that it was the latter from the message of Haggal delivered at a later period, and if this were so, then while we recognize the naturalness of the sorrow, we are also compelled to recognize that it was unwise and unwarranted. In times of restoration after suffering resulting from sin, there should be no place for lamentation over the poorest conditions, as by comparison with those of a past greatness. There is always a place for lamentation over the sin that has caused the limitation, and if this be the meaning of the tears of the old men, then they were not only natural, but justified and proper.

THE GOLDEN TEXT:

In the golden text we have a description of the highest possible activity of worship; and there are two notes which are distinct from each other, while closely connected; that of thanksgiving and that of praise. We often speak of them as though they were the same, and it is perfectly true, as we have said, that they are most intimately related; nevertheless there is a distinction. Thanksgiving is always the expression of gladness for what God has done for us, while praise is the expression of our adoration of what he is in himself.

As a matter of fact, this is very clearly brought out in the actual words of the singing as recorded in 1:20. There the two notes are indicated, but in the other order.

It is not even thanksgiving for what he has done for us; but praise for what he is in himself. That is adoration.

PATIENCE IN A MOTORBOAT

From the New York Sun.

A group of canoeists were sitting on the upper deck of the bathhouse on their float stage, from which they could see across the slip to a pier where owners of various sorts of small craft have their tying-up place. One of the canoeists said:

"I have been watching that big man in a little launch patiently cranking the motor for half an hour."

"I know him," said another, "and his patience has won my respect and admiration. He's a structural iron worker, one of those men you see riding up on girders two or three hundred feet from the sidewalk on a steel cable you can barely see from the street. When one end of the girder is in place the man stands up on it, walks along with a maul in one hand and a big wrench in the other and stands at the free end while the scull lating beam is being lowered by the tackle to the place where he is to bolt it. Men who have the nerve to do that work don't get excited easily in their recreation."

"But I was speaking of his patience," the canoeist went on. "Usually he begins fussing with the motor about the first of April and sometimes it is well along in the fall before he gets it running to suit him; but he has never been known to show signs of impatience."

"Recently there was a holiday following Sunday, and he arranged to have his wife and children spend a part of both days with him in the launch on the bay. They came down an hour or two after he had come to get the boat in fine running order for them."

"From half past 10 in the forenoon until dusk they lingered on the pier and float stage, barring the time it took them to go back in the shade of a big tree and have their luncheon. And all that time he worked patiently over the engine trying to get a start out of it. And he didn't lose patience even when his wife asked periodically, 'Are you sure you have got the gasoline turned on, dear?" "At nightfall when he was changing his clothing to go home he found the air valve of the carburetor in his overalls pocket. He had forgotten to replace it when he had taken the carburetor to pieces to see if anything was the matter with it."

A Big Surprise

"On the next day the family came down late, as if to give him time to get the boat in good running order. Along toward sunset, when I was taking a turn in my canoe, he pulled me well out on the water. It was the first time I had seen his boat running since last season."

"Up to then I had seen him in the launch with bowline and sternline made fast to timberheads on the float stage and with brass-clips out for fear she would start unexpectedly. But if he had her nose up against the plate glass show window of a department store she wouldn't have cracked the glass."

"Apparently my patient friend and his family had a fine sail, for they were out until after dark and didn't have to be towed home."

"About 9 o'clock in the evening I walked down the pier and saw my friend in his boat alongside the float stage. A smoky lantern was burning on one of the seats and parts of the engine were scattered upon the other seats. He had had the water intake disconnected and the water was about five inches deep over the floor boards."

"The cylinder head was off, the piston out, the connecting rod disconnected from the shaft and he was trying to drive out the wrist pin with a center punch. A lot of machine bolts were lying about with their heads worn round from constant taking out and putting in, so that he had to use a stiff iron wrench for turning them in or out."

"The spark coil stood on end near the lantern and the piece belonging to the vibrator lay next to it. The disconnected carburetor was scattered on the other side of the lantern and an assortment of spark plugs was rolling about as the boat swished from side to side. A small stream of gasoline trickled from the disconnected food pipe. He was working as patiently as ever."

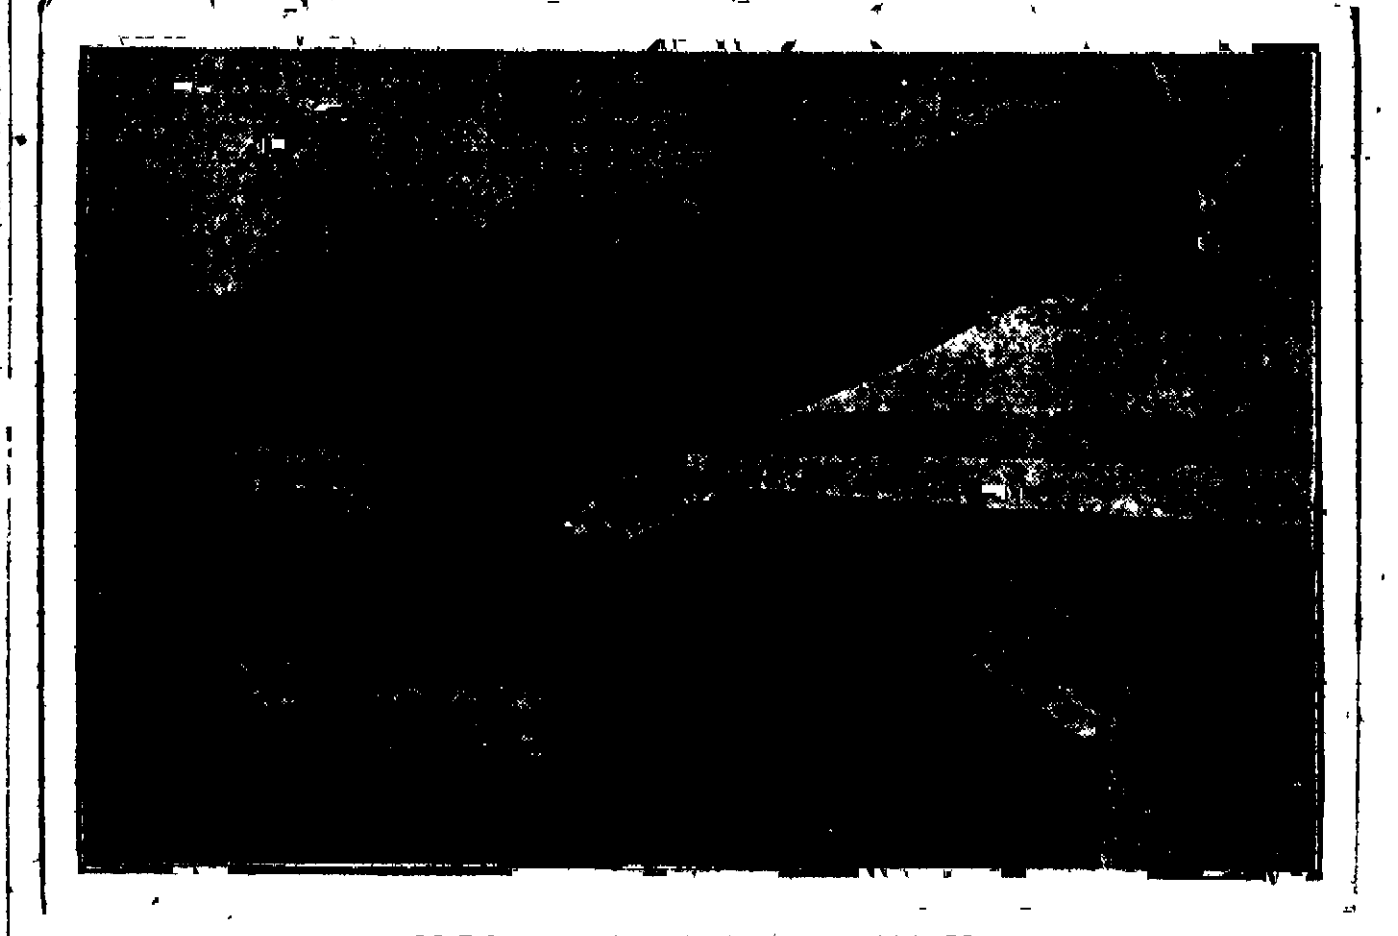

"Anything the matter?" I asked after I had watched him unobserved for a few minutes."

"He looked up and said pleasantly: 'Hello! Is that you?' I'm going to find out what made the blamed thing run so well."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Between 150 and 200 American claims for indemnity for loss of property incident to the recent revolution in Mexico have passed through the state department and been forwarded to the Mexican claims commission at Mexico City.

HOLY GHOST AND US LEADER ARRESTED AS WRECKED SHIP DOCKS

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 21.—As the climax to months of hardships, during which he and his followers suffered from hunger and thirst as their yacht Coronet was buffeted about by sea and wind, the Rev. Frank Sanford, leader of the Holy Ghost and its society, of Shiloh, was brought here tonight in the custody of county officers. His arrest was made on a writ in a civil suit brought by Mrs. Florence H. Whitaker, wife of one of the Sanford leaders, who alleged she was illegally detained aboard the yacht Kingdom, formerly one of the Sanford fleet. She was released on habeas corpus proceedings in June, 1910, and since then the authorities have been awaiting Sanford's reappearance to arrest him.

When Sanford was brought ashore the Rev. A. A. Whitaker, husband of the woman who caused the arrest, assisted Sanford in arranging bail and secured his release late tonight. Damages in Mrs. Whitaker's suit are set at $2,000 and a bond of $10,000 was demanded for Sanford.

Tonight the yacht Coronet swings at anchor off Quarantine, a wrecked and disabled craft, while the story of hardship told by those on board the boat ranks with some of the most terrible of sea tales.

Crew and Passengers Exhausted

Two of her men were brought ashore by health authorities and placed in a hospital suffering with scurvy. Seven others, six men and one child, died of the same disease and were buried at sea according to statements made by members of the crew. Many others have suffered from scurvy. The vessel's hold was empty and no fresh meat had passed the lips of any of the religious seafarers for many days. So exhausted and weakened were the crew and passengers from manning the pumps that it is doubtful if they could have kept their craft afloat longer.

The Coronet has been at sea since June 27, when she sailed from a Haytian port, and was last reported on September 27, when she was sighted by the steamer Lapland, flying signals which indicated that she was short of provisions. The Lapland sent relief and then proceeded. On board were 55 persons, including the Rev. Sanford and his wife and five children. Besides the 31 survivors of the bark Kingdom, which was wrecked on the coast of Africa, there were 24 persons, who were on the Coronet when she left Maine waters. The party includes 11 children ranging in age from 4 to 15 years, and 19 able-bodied men.

M'MANIGAL, THE NEMESIS OF THE M'NAMARAS

Ortle E. McManigal, structural iron worker and Spanish-American war veteran, who has turned informer, and who has been in daily consultation with the district attorney for the last month giving evidence which is to be used against John J. BREWERS SHOCKED BY ATTACK FROM MEMBER

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—At the closing session today of the second International Brewers congress, Berlin, Germany, was selected as the meeting place for 1913.

The brewers received a shock at their closing banquet tonight when one of their own number, H. Hamilton, president of the Houston Brewing company of Houston, Tex., in a speech attacked the brewers.

He had heard a resolution submitted for adoption, reading:

"Resolved, That public drinking places which are the haunts of vice are dangerous and should be eliminated."

"What is the use of adopting resolutions like this?" Mr. Hamilton said, "when it is well known that most of the improper places in large cities are in some way controlled by brewers. In some cases they do not own the license to own the building or controls it in some other way."

"You think the fight against prohibition has been won, but it has only begun. The owning of these respectable places by breweries is what gives us a black eye."

His remarks were received in silence and the resolution was adopted without further comment.

STATEHOOD JUBILEE CLOSES

EL PASO, Oct. 21.—The three-day statehood jubilee given to welcome Arizona and New Mexico into the Union closed here tonight with the famous Ochoa parade, a civic and military pageant four miles in length, upon which thousands of dollars had been expended. It is estimated that 40,000 people reviewed the procession. Governors Colquhoun of Texas, Miller of New Mexico and Sloan of Arizona, returned to their respective state capitals today.

Governor Gonzales of Chihuahua and Vice Governor Gayou of Sonora will return home tomorrow. With the close of the sport features tomorrow, including steer roping in Juarez, the statehood celebration will pass into history.

OCHOA FACING REBELLION

SINALOA, Mex., Oct. 21.—Col. Jose Ochoa, chief of rurales in Sinaloa, ordered to bring about the pacification of that state appears to be facing a rebellion. He occupies Sinaloa, but Juan Banderas, the former revolutionary general who proclaimed himself governor but later yielded to Governor Banderas, 30 years old, is reported to be marching from Culiacan, the capital, upon Sinaloa, with the avowed intention of ousting Ochoa.

ONE RIOTER SHOT DEAD

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 21.—Further particulars received here tonight of the "shooting up" of Cokeville, Wyo., last night by a gang of five men, show that one of the gang, identified as Edward Bacon, was killed. Bacon had been "knot" through the heart during the battle between the gang and a posse of citizens, headed by Deputy Sheriff A. B. Scroggs.

His body was not found for several hours after the shooting. The gang is believed to have included Hugh and Charles Whithers, the bandits for whom officers are searching, and the affair in the town is regarded as showing their defiance of their would-be captors.

Following the shooting the raiders made their escape and today posses were unable to follow their trail.

PREMATURE EXPLOSION CLAIMS FIVE VICTIMS

BELINGHAM, Wash., Oct. 21.—Five men were killed tonight by a premature explosion of powder while at work on an electric railway line several miles south of this city.

ROBBERS GET $6,000

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 21.—Near Jackson, Breathitt county, five men stopped Dr. P. Drury, paymaster for a railroad contractor, while he was on his way with $6,000 to pay off men in a railroad camp. Drury put spurs to his horse, but the animal was hit by a bullet and threw him, and he lost the saddlebags, in which was the money.

THE IRON WILL

Does Not Always Succeed—Where It Has Failed.

John F. Runciman, in the Saturday Review.

They tell us an iron will is a very fine thing. A great general rules his forces by his will. A parliamentary leader drives recalcitrant members into the right lobby by his will. If he has it, Napoleon, they say, controlled all France by his will. I have long had doubts.

Napoleon never had to get an obstinate donkey out of the way of an express train, for there were no express trains, but had the task confronted him, I doubt whether the iron will that conquered France would have moved the donkey. Nay, I do not doubt, I am certain it would not. And since men are a great deal more stupid and more obstinate than donkeys, I am sure it was not by an iron will alone that Napoleon ruled the French.

The iron will only served to rule himself, to keep him hard and incessantly at the working out of his great idea, the idea of convincing men that he was the ablest among them, that by following him they did best for themselves. A political boss does the same; there is no iron will involved, merely he shows his followers that they all gain by going with him.

And the same rule holds true in the case of band conductors. A military conductor can get his way because the men under him are punished unless they obey him, an opera or concert conductor may get his way because he can throw out of employment the men who do not obey him.

But the true born conductor, either military or civil, gets his way, and the results which his handmen know that by having close attention to him and putting their backs into their work they help to secure performances of which they may all justly feel proud.

When Nikisch first came here, many years ago, we were told how, on the continent, he was wont to magnetize his men and make them insensibly yield to his will. It is likely enough they did yield; they would have been dismissed if they had not; but the magnetism did not in the least work in England. The men simply paid no attention to it; there might as well have been no magnetism at all; 'twas in vain Nikisch essayed to fix them with the "glittering eye" of which we had read so much, too much; the inhuman fascists refused to be fixed; the performances were poor, and someone must have lost a fair sum of money over the concert.

So what happened when Nikisch returned, not as master, but as servant, of the orchestra? The Symphony orchestra engaged him; the men were not so much magnetized, but they were not so much repelled, and the results were good. (One might say, approve of many things he did, and especially, his affected readings, but he gained the effects he wanted, and gained them in a legitimate manner, through the faith the men had in him.)

ORIGIN OF COMMON NAMES

Kings in the earliest days were merely "fathers of families," and the word is derived from the same source as "kin." Queen at first meant "wife" or "mother." An earl was an "elder" in the primitive society, while "earl" and "baron" are both derived from "Cae-sar." A grandson is the "son of a son," and a "son-in-law" is the "son of a daughter's husband." A "vinegar" is a "sour" thing, and "vinegar" means "sour wine."

A black and white political cartoon by N.Y. BEARD, depicting the three stages of capitalism: Laissez-Faire, Monopoly, and Socialism. The cartoon is divided into three distinct scenes, each with a circular inset showing a different animal.

- Stage 1 (Laissez-Faire): A man is shown working in a mine, pushing a heavy cart filled with coal. A circular inset shows a pig, symbolizing the early, unregulated stage of capitalism.
- Stage 2 (Monopoly): A woman is shown in a bath, holding a large, ornate mirror. A circular inset shows a shark, symbolizing the stage of monopoly and the "eat the flesh of the slain" mentality.
- Stage 3 (Socialism): A large crowd of people is gathered in front of a grand, classical building with many columns, representing a government or social institution. A circular inset shows a bear, symbolizing the final stage of socialism.
